Repeats Plea To Keep U. S. Out of European War; Hits Barbarism.

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO — Breaking his silence on the Russo-German conflict, Charles A. Lindbergh today went on record with a bitter condemnation of Soviet Russia and a new plea to keep America out of all European wars.

Lindbergh spoke before a crowd of 15,000 at an America First rally in San Francisco last night, declaring:

"I would a hundred times rather see my country ally herself with England, or even with Germany with all her faults, than with the

37 Lose Lives as Jinx Ship Blows Up During Trip

HARPSWELL, Me. —(AP)— The 44-foot motorboat Don was pictured today by state fisheries Warden John Stevens as a jinx ship that was "overcrowded" when it exploded and sent 37 men and women picnickers to death on Sunday.

Declaring the Don had "sunk three times in the past decade" only to be raised, Stevens told newsmen the craft was "top-heavy" and that it carried 150 gallons of gasoline, some in cans on deck, when it set out on its last voyage to Monhegan Island, 40 miles away.

He added that it was inadequately equipped with life preservers for the party of Rumford and Mexico, Me., residents.

None of the first nine recovered bodies—two men and seven women — bore life preservers when they were picked up yesterday in the waters or along the shores of Casco Bay. Two other bodies were held aboard fog-bound search craft overnight.

Search continued today as federal and state authorities pressed an investigation of the accident.

With every indication that there were no survivors of the trip that started so gaily, the disaster took the highest toll of life in New England waters since 47 perished in the Mackinac tragedy in Narragansett Bay, R. I., 16 years ago.

Dr. Turk Resigns As Head of Lima State Hospital.

COLUMBUS —(UP)— Dr. H. M. Turk, Cleveland, resigned today as superintendent of the Lima State hospital for the criminal insane.

State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood said he had received and accepted the resignation which is effective July 31. Dr. Turk will take a vacation during the month of July.

Weatherman Again Promises Cooler Weather's on the Way

Skeptical Mansfielders heard another promise of cooler weather today from the weatherman, but they had heard it before during the 12-day heat wave without getting any results.

The mercury climbed to a scorching 92 in the city yesterday while other Ohio cities reported still higher readings. The year's record was a 101 at Cincinnati. Cleveland, with a reading of 95 degrees, had its first heat death of the year when Mrs. Minnie Webber, 62, succumbed while hanging laundry in the yard at her home.

With a mass of cool air moving toward Ohio from the Canadian northwest, fair and cooler weather was forecast for tonight and Thursday in the Mansfield area.

It will continue fair and cool Thursday, while mostly cloudy skies and moderate temperatures were predicted for the Fourth of July holiday Friday.

The mercury registered 88 at noon today in Mansfield, only four degrees under yesterday's high. Lowest last night was 70 and the average for the day was 81, or 10 degrees above normal.

The heat was indirectly responsible for two other deaths in the state yesterday. McKinley Mitchell, 31, of Marion drowned in Sandusky bay and Mrs. Bertha Kwiatkowski, 50, died at Toledo from a heart attack induced by the excessive heat.

BREAKS RECORD

Empire Produces 30,000 Tons In June For All-Time High.

Production of 30,000 tons of ingot steel at the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company plant in June broke all previous production records at the plant, James M. Hill, president of the company, said today.

The month's production exceeded the May figure by 3,000 tons, he said.

Because of the company's stepped-up production, the hearth department at the plant will operate over the Fourth of July holiday for the first time, Hill said. Employes voted to stay on the job to keep national defense production moving, he asserted.

Workers who stay on the job will receive regular time and a half pay for overtime work. Other departments in the plant will observe the holiday since they can make up their lost time later, Hill added.

Mansfield Boy, 12, Sentenced To B. I. S. Following 'Hold-Up'

The staging of a "wild and wooly west" hold-up in North Lake park yesterday had its unpleasant aftermath today for a 12-year-old boy who was committed to the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster for striking another boy of the same age over the head with a toy pistol and robbing him of 20 cents.

Saying he was "a bold, bad bandit," he accosted his victim while the latter was walking beneath the old roller coaster in the park. He struck his victim over the head, took the money, and left the scene, according to the boy who reported the incident to police when he was discovered wandering in the park by police cruiser officers.

His head cut and bleeding, the boy was returned home by police, who started a search for the offender. Several hours later the youth was apprehended and taken to police headquarters. He was later turned over to the probate court.

The offender appeared before Probate Judge Stuart Cramer today for the sixth time in the past two or more years, according to court records. After being given a hearing he was informed that he would be committed to the industrial school for an indeterminate term.

LEGISLATION FOR EXPANDED FORCE PASSED

Lawmakers OK Appointment of More Policemen to Solve Traffic Problem.

METERS TO PAY SALARIES

Chief Outlines Program For New Division To Be Headed By Commissioner.

In an attempt to solve Mansfield's traffic problem, city council last night approved an ordinance authorizing the appointment of five new policemen to form a traffic division in the police department.

The ordinance stated that the new division should "enforce traffic regulations, investigate accidents, make parking meter collections and develop ways and means to improve the city's traffic conditions."

Although council authorized the organization of a traffic squad, it made no provision for the salaries of the men. Fred Miller, chairman of the finance committee, said that the appropriations would probably be made from the parking meter fund at a special meeting on Monday, July 17, when the 1942 budget will be considered.

Provision for the new patrolmen's salaries has also been made in the tentative city budget for 1942 which was submitted to council's finance committee yesterday. The budget carried a request for an increase of $13,318 in the police department's payroll.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said that the new patrolmen would not go on duty until funds had been appropriated for their salaries and until their appointments can be made from a certified list. Appointment will be delayed, he said, until a new list is prepared.

Crafton said that although a list for appointment to regular police duty exists that the traffic ordinance calls for "necessary qualifications for the operation of a motorcycle." He stated that he could not estimate when the appointments could be made.

The addition of the five men will increase the department's personnel from 29 to 34 men.

DAM PLANNED

Government Expected To O. K. $7,000,000 Project.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Construction of a $7,000,000 conservation dam on the Mahoning river above Warren, will be approved shortly by government authorities to assure an adequate water supply for the Mahoning Valley steel industry and the new Ravenna munitions plant, sponsors of the dam predicted today.

Congressional approval of $15,000,000 for community facilities in defense areas was expected to clear the way for starting the reservoir.

Federal Works Administrator John M. Carmody, who will disburse the special fund, has agreed tentatively to allocate $2,000,000 to begin the project. Since the proposed reservoir also would serve for flood prevention, the balance of the cost is expected to come from later appropriations to the war department for flood control.

Tough! Kills 3, Isn't Sorry

Bernard Sawicki, 19, a parolee from the St. Charles School of Boys, has confessed the fatal shooting of three men and serious wounding of another during a four-day crime wave, according to Chicago police. He killed an Illinois farmer, "an old guy that got me sent to St. Charles"; a Chicago youth, shot as he walked in a park with a girl companion, and a Chicago park policeman. Questioned by police, he said, "Sure I killed 'em. I shot 'em all. And I don't feel one way or the other about it, good or bad—if I get the chair it's okay with me."

483 REGISTER IN DRAFT HERE

Richland Boards Add Names For Military Service; Ohio Total To Hit 42,500.

Richland county selective service boards added 483 more 21-year-old youths to their registration lists today following the second registration of men yesterday. Approximately 9,300 men from 21 to 35 were registered in the county last October.

The total number of new men registered in the county fell short of the 550 estimate, but registrations in the county outside Mansfield were ahead of the forecast.

Board 3 which serves Shelby and the county's rural areas registered 178 men who have become 21 since last Oct. 16 to top the other two boards. In Mansfield Board 1 added 161 youths to its list, while Board 2 which serves a part of the city and all of Madison township registered 144. Board 3 registered 65 men in its Shelby headquarters.

Registrations of 21-year-olds in Ohio are expected to total 42,500, and it is believed the national total will reach 750,000. Complete figures will not be available for a week, it was said.

Consider Tax In Effort to Raise Last $50,000,000.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Still $50,000,000 short of the $3,500,000 new revenue goal, the house ways and means committee today started closed-door consideration of a proposal to tax the nation's billboards.

This suggestion — made by members of the tax writing group—came as fiscal experts estimated that new imposts voted for slot machines and coin vending devices will net the federal treasury only about $100,000,000 annual.

Members said that if the billboard tax cannot be approved, they may seek to re-open consideration of some other items, or consider levies on commodities heretofore unmentioned in order to reach the goal.

Claim Capture Of 400 Tanks, 100,000 Men

Report Russians Retreating on Wide Front In Bloody Battle; Russians Assert Heavy Blows Struck at Germans In Luck Area.

(By Associated Press)

Adolf Hitler's military juggernaut was declared to have dealt a bloody, staggering blow to Russia today with the smashing of "a large part" of Soviet armies trapped east of Bialystok—estimated at 400,000 troops—and the capture of 100,000 Red army prisoners.

In addition, the German high command announced that "immeasurable booty" taken in the battle included 400 tanks and 300 field cannon seized or destroyed.

Russian troops were described as retreating on a wide front, suffering heavy casualties under the strafing of the Nazi Luftwaffe, while German and Finnish armies rolled across the U. S. S. R. from Finland in a new drive toward Leningrad, Russia's second biggest city.

A German war bulletin asserted the Red armies were falling back east of Lwow, in former Poland, and east of German-captured Minsk, the capital of White Russia, and were retreating toward Estonia.

"Units of the Hungarian army advancing from the Carpathian passes into Galicia joined the German army on schedule," the Nazi communique said.

The German high command said the drive into the U. S. S. R. was "progressing swiftly."

It also said that German troops "together with their Finnish allies" had started an attack across the Soviet frontier from central and northern Finland.

The German fuehrer's headquarters, in a special communique, also asserted that another 220 Red army tanks had been captured or destroyed in a battle on the Gallician front, near the Soviet Ukraine, which ended yesterday.

More than 4,000 German and Russian tanks had been reported locked in battle in that sector.

Two whole Russian armies were reported to have been caught in the German snare, and apparently both were cut to pieces.

The official German communique declared:

"A large part of Soviet armies encircled east of Bialystok was definitely destroyed in the course of yesterday."

The German high command termed the fighting "unusually bloody" and said the Russians were hurling regiments headlong against the ring of Nazi troops, tanks and guns encircling them.

Before this German claim, the U. S. S. R. reported it had stopped the fierce Nazi drives aimed at Moscow and Leningrad and had annihilated advance German tank forces on the central front.

In the south, a Soviet war bulletin said, other heavy blows were struck at German forces driving into the Luck area, gate-

JAPAN DECIDES TO BE NEUTRAL

Will Seek To Divert Interest of U. S. From Conflict In Europe.

BULLETIN

CHUNGKING —(INS)— Belief that Japan soon will blockade Vladivostok to prevent war supplies from the United States reaching Russia was expressed in Chinese government circles today with receipt of word that Tokyo has made its decision with regard to the Russo-German conflict.

(By United Press)

Japan has decided to be neutral in the Russo-German war, concentrate on its Far Eastern expansion policy and attempt to keep the United States out of the war by diverting its attention from Europe, it was indicated today.

An imperial conference, seventh in Japanese history and fourth since the Chinese-Japanese war started July 7, 1937, approved today a foreign policy declaration of possibly historic importance.

Japan's position was delicate. It was bogged down in China after four draining years of war, it was allied to Germany and Italy, and had just concluded a neutrality treaty with Russia when Germany attacked the Soviet Union.

Consequently, pending publication of the declaration, newspaper correspondents in Tokyo were forbidden strictly under the drastic state secrets law even to speculate on the nature of the government's decision.

QUESTION 6 IN DISAPPEARANCE

Authorities Report Girl's Clothing Discovered.

PINE GROVE, W. Va.—(AP)—Police Chief Carl Montgomery said today six persons were being questioned in the mysterious disappearance of ten-year-old Rosie Guilloran, whose clothing was found Monday beside a swimming hole near this Wetzel county community.

Divers and volunteers with drag hooks dragged the ten-foot-deep pool all yesterday without result. Montgomery said the search tomorrow would be shifted to a wild piney section north of Pine Grove.

DRIVERS KILLED

Two Ten-Ton Trucks Collide, Block Traffic 3 Hours.

HURON —(UP)— Two 10-ton tractor-trailer trucks collided head on at 1:30 a. m. today in a spectacular wreck that killed two drivers and blocked traffic on U. S. No. 6 for more than three hours.

The drivers were burned beyond recognition when the wreckage caught fire. The flames shot high into the night atmosphere and could be seen for several miles.

The accident happened on a bridge over Old Woman creek, two miles east of Huron. One of the drivers was reported to be Harvey Woolery, 40, of Detroit. Identity of the other driver could not be learned.

Wavell Transfer Seen as Tip On Nazi Drive Toward India

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell suddenly was transferred today from the middle east to India, and surprised Britons speculated on the possibility that the government foresaw a quick German victory over Soviet Russia and a subsequent Nazi drive on the Ganges.

The transfer, in fact, was a switch of commands. Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, 57-year-old Scot, moved from India to the Middle East.

Sir Claude, about whom the British public knows little, was named commander-in-chief of India last January 27 after distinguishing himself by directing the British attack on Narvik, Norway, and organizing English coastal defenses.

Formal notice of the change, issued early today at 10 Downing street, gave no reason for the action.

Some military quarters immediately interpreted them as a move to give Sir Archibald a rest following the heavy campaigning in which his forces swept across Eastern Libya, only to be driven back by reinforced Axis forces, and losing fights were carried on in Greece and Crete.

Others held the changes to indicate that the forces on India's northwest frontier were due for action.

There was a general reluctance in most quarters to consider Sir Archibald's transfer a demotion even though most of his early African successes appeared to be overshadowed by the loss of Crete and the successful German-Italian counter-offensive in Libya.

Weatherman Again Promises Cooler Weather's on the Way

Skeptical Mansfielders heard another promise of cooler weather today from the weatherman, but they had heard it before during the 12-day heat wave without getting any results.

The mercury climbed to a scorching 92 in the city yesterday while other Ohio cities reported still higher readings. The year's record was a 101 at Cincinnati. Cleveland, with a reading of 95 degrees, had its first heat death of the year when Mrs. Minnie Webber, 62, succumbed while hanging laundry in the yard at her home.

With a mass of cool air moving toward Ohio from the Canadian northwest, fair and cooler weather was forecast for tonight and Thursday in the Mansfield area.

It will continue fair and cool Thursday, while mostly cloudy skies and moderate temperatures were predicted for the Fourth of July holiday Friday.

The mercury registered 88 at noon today in Mansfield, only four degrees under yesterday's high. Lowest last night was 70 and the average for the day was 81, or 10 degrees above normal.

The heat was indirectly responsible for two other deaths in the state yesterday. McKinley Mitchell, 31, of Marion drowned in Sandusky bay and Mrs. Bertha Kwiatkowski, 50, died at Toledo from a heart attack induced by the excessive heat.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Construction of a $7,000,000 conservation dam on the Mahoning river above Warren, will be approved shortly by government authorities to assure an adequate water supply for the Mahoning Valley steel industry and the new Ravenna munitions plant, sponsors of the dam predicted today.

Congressional approval of $14,000,000 for community facilities in defense areas was expected to clear the way for starting the reservoir.

Richland Boards Add Names For Military Service; Ohio Total To Hit 42,500.

Richland county selective service boards added 483 more 21-year-old youths to their registration lists today following the second registration of men yesterday. Approximately 9,300 men from 21 to 35 were registered in the county last October.

The total number of new men registered in the county fell short of the 550 estimate, but registrations in the county outside Mansfield were ahead of the forecast.

Board 3 which serves Shelby and the county's rural areas registered 178 men who have become 21 since last Oct. 16 to top the other two boards. HIT BILLBOARDS

Consider Tax In Effort to Raise Last $50,000,000.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Still $50,000,000 short of the $3,500,000 new revenue goal, the house ways and means committee today started closed-door consideration of a proposal to tax the nation's billboards.

This suggestion — made by members of the tax writing group—came as fiscal experts estimated that new imposts voted for slot machines and coin vending devices will net the federal treasury only about $100,000,000 annual.

Members said that if the billboard tax cannot be approved, they may seek to re-open consideration of some other items, or consider levies on commodities heretofore unmentioned in order to reach the goal.

Claim Capture Of 400 Tanks, 100,000 Men

Report Russians Retreating on Wide Front In Bloody Battle; Russians Assert Heavy Blows Struck at Germans In Luck Area.

(By Associated Press)

Adolf Hitler's military juggernaut was declared to have dealt a bloody, staggering blow to Russia today with the smashing of "a large part" of Soviet armies trapped east of Bialystok—estimated at 400,000 troops—and the capture of 100,000 Red army prisoners.

In addition, the German high command announced that "immeasurable booty" taken in the battle included 400 tanks and 300 field cannon seized or destroyed.

Russian troops were described as retreating on a wide front, suffering heavy casualties under the strafing of the Nazi Luftwaffe, while German and Finnish armies rolled across the U. S. S. R. from Finland in a new drive toward Leningrad, Russia's second biggest city.

A German war bulletin asserted the Red armies were falling back east of Lwow, in former Poland, and east of German-captured Minsk, the capital of White Russia, and were retreating toward Estonia.

"Units of the Hungarian army advancing from the Carpathian passes into Galicia joined the German army on schedule," the Nazi communique said.

The German high command said the drive into the U. S. S. R. was "progressing swiftly."

It also said that German troops "together with their Finnish allies" had started an attack across the Soviet frontier from central and northern Finland.

The German fuehrer's headquarters, in a special communique, also asserted that another 220 Red army tanks had been captured or destroyed in a battle on the Gallician front, near the Soviet Ukraine, which ended yesterday.

More than 4,000 German and Russian tanks had been reported locked in battle in that sector.

Two whole Russian armies were reported to have been caught in the German snare, and apparently both were cut to pieces.

The official German communique declared:

"A large part of Soviet armies encircled east of Bialystok was definitely destroyed in the course of yesterday."

The German high command termed the fighting "unusually bloody" and said the Russians were hurling regiments headlong against the ring of Nazi troops, tanks and guns encircling them.

Before this German claim, the U. S. S. R. reported it had stopped the fierce Nazi drives aimed at Moscow and Leningrad and had annihilated advance German tank forces on the central front.

In the south, a Soviet war bulletin said, other heavy blows were struck at German forces driving into the Luck area, gate-

JAPAN DECIDES TO BE NEUTRAL

Will Seek To Divert Interest of U. S. From Conflict In Europe.

BULLETIN

CHUNGKING —(INS)— Belief that Japan soon will blockade Vladivostok to prevent war supplies from the United States reaching Russia was expressed in Chinese government circles today with receipt of word that Tokyo has made its decision with regard to the Russo-German conflict.

(By United Press)

Japan has decided to be neutral in the Russo-German war, concentrate on its Far Eastern expansion policy and attempt to keep the United States out of the war by diverting its attention from Europe, it was indicated today.

An imperial conference, seventh in Japanese history and fourth since the Chinese-Japanese war started July 7, 1937, approved today a foreign policy declaration of possibly historic importance.

Japan's position was delicate. It was bogged down in China after four draining years of war, it was allied to Germany and Italy, and had just concluded a neutrality treaty with Russia when Germany attacked the Soviet Union.

Consequently, pending publication of the declaration, newspaper correspondents in Tokyo were forbidden strictly under the drastic state secrets law even to speculate on the nature of the government's decision.

QUESTION 6 IN DISAPPEARANCE

Authorities Report Girl's Clothing Discovered.

PINE GROVE, W. Va.—(AP)—Police Chief Carl Montgomery said today six persons were being questioned in the mysterious disappearance of ten-year-old Rosie Guilloran, whose clothing was found Monday beside a swimming hole near this Wetzel county community.

Divers and volunteers with drag hooks dragged the ten-foot-deep pool all yesterday without result. Montgomery said the search tomorrow would be shifted to a wild piney section north of Pine Grove.

DRIVERS KILLED

Two Ten-Ton Trucks Collide, Block Traffic 3 Hours.

HURON —(U.P.)— Two 10-ton tractor-trailer trucks collided head on at 1:30 a. m. today in a spectacular wreck that killed two drivers and blocked traffic on U. S. No. 6 for more than three hours.

The drivers were burned beyond recognition when the wreckage caught fire. The flames shot high into the night atmosphere and could be seen for several miles.

The accident happened on a bridge over Old Woman creek, two miles east of Huron. One of the drivers was reported to be Harvey Woolery, 40, of Detroit. Identity of the other driver could not be learned.

WOMAN FREED

Jury Acquits Mother In Slaying Of Husband In Defense.

BECKLEY, W. Va.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Thelma Cole, 26-year-old mother of two children charged with the murder of her husband, was released from custody today after her acquittal in Raleigh county criminal court.

A jury returned the verdict after listening to testimony that Mrs. Cole shot her 36-year-old mate, Dewey Cole, in self-defense when he threatened to hit her with an axe.

STANTON NOMINATED

BOSTON —(AP)— B. F. Stanton of Alliance, was nominated without opposition for treasurer of the National Educational association.

Wavell Transfer Seen as Tip On Nazi Drive Toward India

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell suddenly was transferred today from the middle east to India, and surprised Britons spectulated on the possibility that the government foresaw a quick German victory over Soviet Russia and a subsequent Nazi drive on the Ganges.

The transfer, in fact, was a switch of commands. Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, 57-year-old Scot, moved from India to the Middle East.

Sir Claude, about whom the British public knows little, was named commander-in-chief of India last January 27 after distinguishing himself by directing the British attack on Narvik, Norway, and organizing English coastal defenses.

Formal notice of the change, issued early today at 10 Downing street, gave no reason for the action.

Some military quarters immediately interpreted them as a move to give Sir Archibald a rest following the heavy campaigning in which his forces swept across Eastern Libya, only to be driven back by reinforced Axis forces, and losing fights were carried on in Greece and Crete.

Others held the changes to indicate that the forces on India's northwest frontier were due for action.

There was a general reluctance in most quarters to consider Sir Archibald's transfer a demotion even though most of his early African successes appeared to be overshadowed by the loss of Crete and the successful German-Italian counter-offensive in Libya.

BOARD ACCEPTS RESIGNATIONS OF 3 TEACHERS

Galion Group Purchases Coal, Votes Repairs To Junior High Heating System.

GALION—Approval of several new appointments, acceptance of resignations of three teachers, purchase of coal, and repairs to the heating system at the Junior high school, were major items of importance transacted in the July business at the meeting of the Galion board of education.

Hilda Miller, who has taught in the Galion high school since 1923, is retiring after 40 years of teaching, and her resignation was accepted by the board.

The board also accepted resignations of Muriel Ricker, who has taught in the commercial department for the past two years; and Alice Mehrling, art teacher, who has accepted a position at Amherst, Ohio.

Appointments approved by the board are: Ruthana Maxwell of Findlay, a teacher at North Robinson for the past four years, who will teach English and Spanish in Senior high school. Helen Sletvold, who moved with parents to Marion recently, was hired to teach home economics in the Junior high school. She comes here after teaching one year at Sacred Heart, Minn., and graduating from North Dakota college. Orrie Lehman of Amity, Ohio, was employed to teach physical education and science, having six years experience, and graduating from Ohio State university. Stanley Cameron of Raymond, Ohio, graduate of Bowling Green university, eight years experience, was employed for fifth and sixth grades at West elementary, and to conduct boys' activities at the school.

It was announced that both Lura Dunning and Marguerite Weichel are returning after leaves of absence. They recently received degrees of B. S. in education at Ohio State university.

After a considerable discussion of heating problems at the Junior high school, the board appropriated $2,000 for the purpose of revising the system, and authorized Supt. O. E. Hill to confer with the engineer, H. E. Becker, who was present at the board meeting.

Seven hundred tons of coal were purchased.

The Galion school district recently received a check for $3,490 from the Polk township board which is their obligation under the Tarr bill and the non-additional aid allotment, it was announced.

The superintendent's report stated that a civil service examination for a janitor at the South building will be given on or about July 15.

BUCYRUS DRIVE ON DELINQUENT BILLS SUCCESS

Department Collects All But $11 In Unpaid Accounts In Water Department.

BUCYRUS — The Bucyrus waters workes clamp upon delinquent accounts, which was put into effect a little more than a year ago, has been so effective that today there remains only $11 in current delinquent bills, Supt. A. J. Keplinger reported to city council Tuesday night.

A year ago delinquent accounts totaled around $18,000. During the first six months of this year, Keplinger reported, the department has collected $1,425.23. Last year $5,029.27 was collected in old accounts.

The department now demands payment of current accounts under threat of a stoppage of water supply.

Council voted approval of letting the bonds for the Bucyrus swimming pool totaling $25,000 to the Bucyrus city banks at one and three-quarters per cent interest with a $580 premium. It was reported that a new sewage rental rate may be proposed at the next council meeting.

Remainder of the session was taken up by hearing various minor complaints regarding sidewalks, trees and weeds.

Former Galion Resident Dies After Illness

GALION—Harry Y. Lemon of 349 Harding Way West died Tuesday at 3:30 p. m. in a Columbus hospital following an illness of several weeks. He was born at Bryan, Ohio.

Besides the widow, he leaves two sisters, Mrs. W. H. Eastman of Fredericktown, O., and Mrs. C. A. Koppe of Galion; and one brother, C. B. Lemon of Elyria.

Most of his life he lived in Galion and vicinity. Several years ago he was employed in the S. M. Riblet hardware store and sold real estate. In later years he was traveling salesman.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2:30 p. m. in the Snyder funeral home. Rev. William A. Martin, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will officiate, and burial will be made in Fairview cemetery. Friends may call any time at the funeral home.

NAZIS SMASH 400,000 REDS IN GIANT TRAP

In the north, above the Arctic circle, the Russians reported that Soviet troops were putting up "fierce resistance" against a German offensive on the Sredni peninsula, at the north entrance to the ice-free port of Murmansk.

Moscow dispatches said the Arctic-Black sea front was now becoming stabilized near the old Russian border.

London radio quoted a German-controlled Norwegian broadcast as saying that the Russian base at Viipuri, on the Karelian isthmus, has been surrounded by Finnish soldiers who landed behind the base.

The Russians yesterday declared they had wiped out a German naval landing contingent which attempted to attack the Viipuri base.

In contrast to German claims of success, the Soviet high command told of the battle still raging along the Murmansk-Dvinsk-Minsk-Luck front.

"In the Dvinsk and Minsk direction, our troops developed fighting activities last night after having destroyed advance tank units of the enemy," the Russian communique said.

Soviet warplanes were pictured as inflicting great damage on Nazi tank columns and strafing German infantry "masses" plodding into the one-time land of the tsars.

On the south end of the 2,000-mile battlefront, along the Prut river sector, the Russians reported that "all attempts by Rumanian and German troops to penetrate into Bessarabian territory" were being routed.

The Russians acknowledged withdrawing from Lwow, southwest of Luck, but declared the push to the Ukraine has been stopped with heavy losses after days of nuge-scale tank warfare.

Turkey, linked both to Soviet Russia and Germany with pacts of non-aggression, was reported moving large army forces across the Bosporus in military maneuvers the significance of which was not disclosed immediately.

From Istanbul, on the European side, dispatches said the troops were crossing from the European to the Asiatic side of the strait in maneuvers practicing a retreat which observers said would amount to abandonment of control of the Dardanelles if ever actually carried out.

From Ankara, however, the troops were said to be crossing "from the Anatolian to the Thracian side," a maneuver exactly the opposite of that reported from Istanbul.

British planes struck overnight along the Nazi-held coast of France and also bombed the docks at Brest. German air activity over Britain was reported slight.

Russia Indicates Long War Expected

WASHINGTON — (AP)— Soviet Russia indicated that it expected a long war today by proceeding with preliminary negotiations for the purchase of vital supplies in the United States.

Russia's decision to begin shopping here for such materials that can be spared was looked on as an official expression of confidence that Russia, despite initial Nazi successes, would be able to halt Hitler's newest blitzkrieg short of victory.

Informed officials here said that Russian representatives in this country undoubtedly are aware that, with few exceptions, delivery on any purchases they make is bound to be long deferred. Because of this fact, they believed that the Russians were thinking in terms of a long-range program.

It was evident, these sources pointed out, that the excess supplies now available for Soviet purchase were too negligible to exert any tangible effect on the present tide of battle, and furthermore, it would take the materials too long to get to Russia.

The Soviet, for example, could not expect to obtain any strictly military supplies, it was said, until such time as American industry neared production peaks, because the output for months to come has been earmarked for the needs of national defense, and for lease-lend aid to Britain and China.

A somewhat similar situation obtains with regard to other strategic supplies—such as machine tools and manufacturing equipment.

However, the general belief here was that the Red army in the past decade had built up huge reserves of military stores, and that the Soviet now was interested in obtaining replacements for the future and also the machine tools and equipment for its arms industries.

British Push Deep Into Central Syria

LONDON —(INS)— Pushing deep into central Syria, military authorities declared today, British and Free French forces occupied Essukhne, 40 miles northeast of Palmyra. British troops in Syria were declared to have received fresh reinforcements.

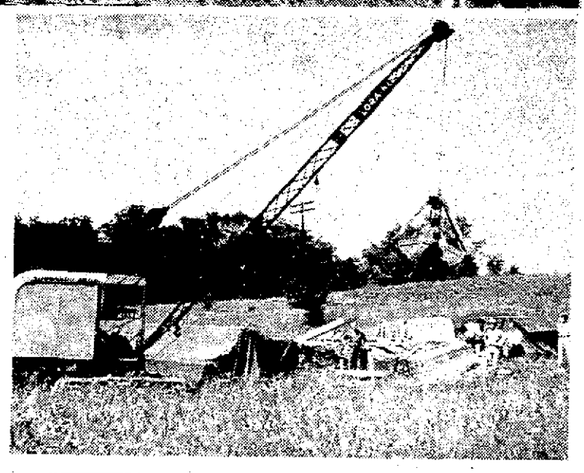
Break Ground for 30-N Crossing Jobs



Vance Grimes, Ashland division engineer of the state highway department, turns over the first shovel of dirt with a bronze-plated shovel on the grade elimination project of two railroad crossings in and near Mansfield on State Route 30-N while city, county and state officials look on. Below, workmen swing into action the only piece of heavy machinery which has arrived for the project as yet. Work on the construction of an overhead crossing over the Baltimore and Ohio tracks at West Fourth street and an underpass below the Erie tracks further west began yesterday 20 days behind schedule.

FDR Preparing New Address on War Situation

advise the American public on prospects of U. S. involvement in actual shooting.

The nation, and the rest of the radio-listening world, will hear the president's latest report on war probabilities at 4 p. m., EST, on July 4, in connection with the special Independence day program being staged by New York's Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia as federal head of the office of civilian defense.

By a succession of moves, president Roosevelt has served notice plainly on Germany and its "Axis" allies that the United States hopes to avoid definite war—but is determined to keep an ever-increasing flow of war goods to Great Britain.

The president had no comment on the proposal of Navy Secretary Frank Knox that the United States warships "strike now" at "the German menace which impedes delivery of American military supplies to Britain.

He did, however, take definite exception to the practice of polling citizens on the subject of whether or not the United States wanted to go to war."

Mr. Roosevelt pointed a critical finger at two polls seeking popular opinion.

One is the current poll being conducted by Rep. Hamilton Fish, Republican congressman of the president's own district. The other is being run by the New York Daily News.

President Roosevelt said his wife had protested against the Fish pool and voted against it. So far as the news poll is concerned, the president said he thought he would vote about the same way as the paper's publisher.

A special wire to Washington meanwhile kept Mr. Roosevelt in touch with Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles and other key officials about best available information from the European war front.

CALL WITNESSES TO VIEW PAIR

Bandit Suspects Captured After 50-Mile Chase by Deputies.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— About 15 victims and witnesses in recent holdups in Columbus were to appear at the police station today to view two bandit suspects captured after a 50-mile chase by sheriff's deputies.

The suspects who gave their names as Harold McDermott, 29, and Arthur McCaskey, both of Columbus, were said by police to have admitted robbery of $24 from a Columbus market yesterday and $2,300 from a Cincinnati cafe recently.

SUIT REMANDED

COLUMBUS —(AP)— City Attorney John L. Davies' $42,000,000 "gas dilution" suit against the Columbus Gas & Electric Corp. and subsidiaries has been remanded to Franklin county common pleas court by the district of appeals.

cruelty, the Godlessness, and the barbarism that exist in Soviet Russia."

The former army reserve colonel urged a national rededication to Americanism in an address broadcast by two national networks.

"The fundamental point," he continued, "is that we do not want to ally ourselves with Russia, or Germany, or England, or with any foreign power that seeks to embroil us in the quarrels and chaos of Europe.

"We do not want to fight for the Russian way of life, or the German way of life, or the English way of life, or for any way of life except our own.

"Why should the United States of America be divided by these eternal European wars? Why dissipate our strength and unity here at home in an attempt to force us into another European war?

"Why give up an impregnable position in America for a hazardous and untenable position in Europe?

"Why bring to this country the chaos, the intolerance, and the hatred that will inevitably come with a foreign war?"

19 COMMUNITIES GIVEN RATE CUT

Merger Affects Reduction of $20,000 Per Year.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Lowered power rates in 19 western Ohio communities went into effect today after the Ohio Public Utilities commission authorized new rates schedules filed by seven recently-merged companies. The commission estimated that the reduction would amount to at least $20,000 a year.

Communities in which residential and commercial bills will be reduced as much as 13 per cent of the present rates include: Bradford, Gettysburg, Pittsburg, Gordon, Ithaca, Lewisburg, Verona, Covington, Laura, Ludlow Falls, Pleasant Hill, New Lebanon, West Milton, Eaton, Castline, Greenville, Hollansburg, Palestine and New Madison.

board members and the clerks, was completed at 9 p. m. yesterday without a hitch, clerks said. Election boards conducted the first registration last fall.

Two volunteer helpers, Mrs. Sarah Neff, 40 North Adams street, and W. H. Layland, 111 West Fifth street, helped Mrs. Emma Pierce, deputy clerk of Board 3, with registrations at the courthouse.

Acting on instructions from state draft headquarters to grant temporary deferment to men past 28 years old, the county's three draft boards today prepared to make a number of substitutions in the group of 22 selectees scheduled to leave tomorrow morning for the Fort Hayes induction station.

Board 1 placed Merle Jack Diehl, 410 Tremont place, a volunteer, in its group for Charles Telling, 147 Rae avenue, who was deferred because he was past 28.

Board 3 clerks said two men scheduled to go Thursday would be replaced by other younger selectees. Those who were expected to be drafted were John Myers, Bellville, R. D. 2, and James Andrew Bright of Lucas.

Board 2 was scheduled to meet this afternoon to consider deferment of men past 28 and their replacements.

The order for temporary deferment was issued in view of a bill pending in congress which would defer all men over 28. The bill has passed the senate and is due for a hearing July 8 by the house of representatives.

Getting First Food Stamps In County

Scores of Richland county relief clients jammed the city-county relief headquarters yesterday and today to get their first food stamps for grocery orders and surplus commodities. The plan went into effect in the county yesterday. Mrs. Edna Schrack, Mansfield, third from left, is shown in the above picture getting her supply of stamps yesterday. She was one of the first to receive them. Others in the picture, left to right, are John Farrell, clerk at the relief headquarters; Relief Director J. V. Finney, and Dorothy Arnold, county WPA certification agent.

CREATES 5-MAN TRAFFIC SQUAD

Councilmen OK Appointment of More Policemen; Meters To Pay Salaries.

At present, five men of the regular department serve as traffic officers on part-time.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates is empowered by the ordinance to appoint a traffic commissioner to direct the work of the traffic squad. He assured council last night that he would detail members of the regular department to aid the new policemen until the traffic program gets under way.

Although one of the functions of the new squad will be to collect receipts from parking meters, council also appropriated $170 to to continue the service of Lloyd L. Kochenderfer as parking meter collector and inspector for another two months. Crafton said that this was done to allow organization of the traffic division and to allow Kochenderfer to instruct the new policemen.

Bates said that the naming of the traffic commissioner will be delayed until the members of the new division are appointed.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, JULY 2, 1941.

Opportunism is one thing; making the most of opportunity is quite another.

Whatever Japan's decision is—and she seems to be having a hard time making up her mind—it might be to her ultimate good as well as our own to stop sending her war materials.

A new slant on "haves" and "have-nots," "national resources," etc., is suggested by the news that 40 per cent of du Pont's earnings last year came from the manufacture of materials that didn't exist 10 years ago.

Mansfield's Increasing Budget

THE SUBJECT of increasing the number of men in the Mansfield police department is again up before council—this time in the form of a tentative budget of municipal operating costs for next year.

The matters of fire department personnel and pensioning requirements in both departments also become involved in the budget discussion, with figures indicating a considerable increase in total requirements for next year.

While it is quite clear that increasing needs of a growing city cannot be met without incurring added costs, it is unfortunate that there cannot be better public understanding of various expenditures required to operate essential departments of city government.

There is general approval, of course, of the pensioning plan, for continued compensation of members of the police and fire departments upon retirement, but it is likely that a large majority of citizens have little knowledge of actual cost involved in meeting this item, which is budgeted for a considerable increase.

It may be regarded as unfortunate that Mansfield, during the past decade, has shown an inclination to change city administrations every two years, as it is difficult, under such conditions, to carry through a systematic conduct of municipal business or to work out any long range program for civic improvements such as is possible under continuous direction of a capable city manager unhampered by partisan obligations.

The public approval accorded installation of parking meters on Mansfield business streets was largely due to a feeling of confidence that income from meters would be sufficient to provide more effective traffic policing—but, as yet, there has been no evidence of improvement along this line, nor does the matter of enforcement of traffic regulations appear to be seriously regarded by either the administration or the police department.

There would probably be more widespread approval of an increased budget if there were a greater feeling of confidence that public money is being economically expended for capable and essential public service.

Example of Supreme Gangsterism

NOTHING could show more clearly than the Nazi attack on Russia, how Hitler has turned Germany into a beast of prey. The Germany which in a normal state of peace would be self-sustaining and prosperous has committed itself for several years to a war economy. Thus normal domestic production of food, clothing and other essentials, along with the normal profits and exchanges of international trade, are lacking. Naziism is living, as such a vast war machine must live, a predatory existence.

Having overrun and ravaged the free and peaceful countries of western Europe until she has stripped them of their normal food supplies and defense materials, so that they are impoverished, Hitler's Germany must find new areas to ravage in order to keep going. So she strikes at Russia, which although poor itself, with 200,000,000 mouths to feed, has more food than Hitler's Germany and more raw materials to be fashioned by the Nazi war machine into new instruments of war.

Thus the predatory Nazi system, by forsaking a normal, productive existence, not only fills the world with fear and horror. It makes the world poor by drying up the springs of economic production, and thus keeps itself from prosperity. It is a supreme picture of international gangsterism in its most evil and ignorant form.

Six-Day Gardening

PAEANS of praise will rise from many a gardener's heart to the garden editor who recently told her readers to rest in their gardens on Sunday.

"What is the use," she asked, "of creating a beautiful garden if you only work in it and never have the time to enjoy it? Any work that does not get done by Saturday night should wait until Monday."

At first, welcome as it is, this advice will be hard to follow. So earnest have gardeners become of late that they cannot see a weed, even on the day of rest, without pulling it, or an insect without dashing for the spray gun But it is worth the effort to conquer such impulses.

"Tell yourself," the garden writer says, "that there is another day coming, lean back and invite your soul." The fragrance of the honeysuckle, the beauty of the roses and the delightful ways of the birds that come to your garden will be your rewards both for laboring six days a week and for pausing to enjoy the seventh.

Big Job for the Railroads

FEW REALIZE to how great an extent the arms program depends upon adequate transportation.

Factories that are making materials and munitions of war are located in all sections of the country. Much of the goods is produced by sub-contractors—by shops that make small parts which must be shipped hundreds or thousands of miles to the points where they are assembled.

Gigantic quantities of steel, lumber and other basic materials must be carried across the continent—and then carried, in fabricated form, to the places where they will be used. Load after load of materials of all kinds, from food to cannon, must go in a steady stream for shipment to England, and to our own widely-spaced army camps and air and naval bases. On top of that, the normal needs of the country must be met.

The great bulk of this transportation load is borne by the railroads—the other carriers are simply valuable adjuncts of rail service. Today, as in the past, the iron horse is the backbone of American commerce—his pulling power today far surpasses all past records. Luckily for American security, the railroads have been preparing, over a twenty-year period, for just such an emergency as the country faces today.

AS SEEN FROM THE SIDELINES

Even Air Over Capital Congested

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

NOT only is the city of Washington packed so full of legislators, executives, judiciary, regularly-employed departmental and bureaucratic staffs, and recently-arrived emergen y workers, almost all of them with large families, that its entire terrain, housing and offices are insufficient to hold 'em; there isn't even air enough overhead for such a mob.

Hence the demand by Chairman Jack Nichols (Oklahoma lawmaker) of the representatives' aviation accident investigating committee for congressional creation of a federal office of aerial traffic control.

Jack wants the head of this setup to have charge of air lanes throughout the whole country; they're all congested, he says, especially in the vicinity of landing and taking-off ports. However, it's over and around the District of Columbia that h declares conditions are the worst He got his idea from his observation of the jam in the capital's especial atmosphere.

Being unfamiliar with the situation as loftily above-ground as Representative Nichols discusses, I don't know how good a case he makes out. I'll say, though, that it must be awful, if the air's anything like as crowded as Washington is from the street level to the top of the tallest buildings in town.

A community likes to grow. It implies prosperity. Yes, an increasing population is alright. But a multiplying one, at a rate of thousands and thousands per month, is an overdose. It's hopeless to try to state figures. The gravitation of newcomers into this burg has been far too rapid to keep track of. Reports from other emergency centers throughout the land indicate that they're chockful also, but Washington isn't merely chockful; to say that it's overflowing is a masterpiece of an understatement.

Rental Roof, Maybe.

Of course, rentals are skyhooting. There's talk of putting a compulsory roof on 'em, but the trouble is, it's feared that, if that's done, landlords won't rent.

You can scarcely get into a restaurant or up to a bar or find transportation downtown in the morning or home at night. Government workers' hours have been staggered in an effort to relieve the rushes, but it hasn't had any appreciable effect.

And that isn't all. There's been a terrific crime outbreak. Sluggings (many of 'em fatal) occur nightly, right and left. Outrageous attacks on women, ending up in stranglings in many instances, are fairly epidemic. A huge army of girl workers are secretarilly employed by the government. Their home folk, out in the sticks, afraid to have their daughters stay in such a place, are barraging their congressmen with letters on the subject.

The Washington police are under investigation, on grounds of inefficiency.

But the fact is that a Washington police force was provided for, numerically when the city was only a fraction as large as it is now. Today the number of coppers is ridiculously too small. They're simply swamped.

A lot of Uncle Sam's troops are barracked nearby the District. Congressman Michael J. Kennedy of New York is clamoring to have plenty of 'em assigned to police duty in the capital. Even if they don't turn out to be very good sleuths, he says they can attend to jobs like bossing traffic, relieving professional cops for service at murder prevention or catching the murderers.

The only question is, "Can soldiers be so employed?" Mike Kennedy thinks they can.

Move 'Em Away?

Congressman A. J. Sabath's plan is to thin the capital out by scattering a good many governmental agencies away from Washington—to Chicago (his own home town) and elsewhere.

That likewise would present some problems, though. Most of the places he suggests are crowded, too, though not like Washington. Furthermore, many federal workers own Washington homes. It would be a hardship to uproot 'em. Besides, this is the natural center for the U. S. government to concentrate itself in. Taking that for granted, numerous private organizations, which have business to transact with Uncle Sam, have long maintained headquarters, here. Commerce and industry would be seriously joggled by a governmental scatteration.

Listen World!

You Aren't Brave?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SO YOU think "people like me" are wonderful, do you? Strong minded and brave and honest 'n' energetic 'n' everything—

And it just thrills Poor Little You to think about us, does it, living our big, brave lives in our free, romantic world?

What wouldn't YOU give to be like that . . . to have a job like that! Always so sure of ourselves. Never weak and bewildered 'n' all washed up. Why, if YOU could be like that for Just One Day—

But, of course, you can't. There isn't even any use hoping. For you're—different. You've always been different. You've never had a chance like other people. Right from the first you've been sensitive and timid. And the least little thing Used You Up.

Maybe if somebody had tried to understand you it might have been helped. But no one ever did. No one ever cared whether you got ahead or not. No one ever tried to spare your feelings or bring out the best in you. 'N' so, you've just gone drifting along—half alive—envying the "lucky people who have all the breaks"—

Yes, indeedy. That sounds tough. And you'd like me a lot better if I gave you a nice, sweet, snivelling answer. But I'm not going to. For you're not getting anywhere with this line of thought, partner. You're neither kidding the other fellow nor helping yourself. The simple truth is you've worked up a SELF PITY RACKET.

All this talk about "naturally brave, ambitious people who lead such exciting lives" — piffle. There's no such thing. And, deep in your own heart, you know there's no such thing. But it makes such a swell alibi to pretend there is.

Me, f'r instance. You look with loathing at the same old dirty dishes—pick up my column—listen to me walloping the tar out of something—wish you had my spunk—were in a job like mine. Snap out of it and stop telling yourself fairy tales.

I'm not brave. I'm not strong minded. Nor confident nor ambitious, nor good natured nor satisfied. I'm as lazy as any old flea bitten hound. I'm sentimental and sloppy-scared pink of something or other 99 per cent of the time. And if you removed the pressure I wouldn't have the spunk of a gelatine pudding.

As for this "exciting, romantic life"—baloney! Writin's no more exciting than ditch digging and ten times as hard a job. It's plain plugging without a letup, year after year after year. And nine times out of ten when I look at the results I want to go jump in the bay.

But what of it? What does it matter how I stack up inside so long as I get the job done? Who gives a hoot whether I feel like a shooting star or a busted fish worm? And why should I personally feel that it's important news?

It isn't. This is the way humans are and always have been. But did the worthwhile ones let that interfere with their regular programs? They did not. There were jobs to be done and they did 'em. And that was all that mattered.

That's the truth about me. That's also the truth about you. Only you don't want to take it. So you've fixed up this I'M-DIFFERENT racket. But it won't go. You're not different, I'm not different. Nobody's different. Life's tough for all of us. It's tough in different ways but it's always tough—and we're all pretty much of a washout.

Red Tape Delays Arms Shipments Slow Action By State Department

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The British are an extremely patient people. But if they were not, they would do a lot of complaining over the manner in which state department red tape snarls the lease-lend program.

For after their purchases are all approved and officially stamped by General R. L. Mawxell, who is in charge of export licenses for the president, the matter still has to go to the state department division of munitions controls.

This is under Joseph Green, ex-Princeton professor, who became famous several years ago for putting all sorts of obstacles in the path of arms to Loyalist Spain, while simultaneously letting arms be shipped to Germany despite the treaty of 1920 prohibiting this. (This he did, however, with the complete approval of Secretary Hull.)

Green's office now has been shorn of any real authority, but since it was created by congress it cannot be ignored. But it is one of the most red-tape snarled bureaus in the state department, so much so that it sometimes takes a week for a British shipment to get Green's OK, even though it already has been approved by General Maxwell, his superior.

Green has no authority to stop a shipment. In fact he has no authority to do much of anything. But despite this fact it takes about a week for shipments to clear through his office.

British Protest.

THE situation became so bad last year that the British finally prepared a memorandum on the subject and sent it to Philip Young, conscientious, hard-working son of Owen D. Young of General Electric, who is the treasury department's representative, regarding the state department's division of munitions control. Young showed it to Secretary Morgenthau, who was so disturbed that he took the matter up with the president, personally. The president, in turn, asked Secretary Hull to do something about Joe Green. But nothing happened.

In the end, the memo went to Green himself, who offered what Philip Young described as "absurdly lame excuses" for his red tape.

Green's office continued to be bogged down as much as ever. Finally, several months ago the British prepared another memo asking if this bottleneck could not be speeded up. However, just as they were about to submit the memo they heard that Green was expanding his staff. So they waited, hoping that this might remedy the situation. But it did not. Green's routine is just as slow as ever.

The following is an example of how he operates: Not long ago, a U. S. machine tool manufacturer filled an order for shipment to New Zealand. The OPM asked some questions, thinking the machine tools might better be used in the U. S. A., but the British purchasing mission explained that the tools were needed to make machinery for the production of equipment for Anzac barracks in Egypt and Syria. The OPM promptly approved, and the British thought the matter was settled.

But they had forgotten the state department and Joe Green. His division of munitions controls held up the shipment for a full week, not because he had any authority, but purely through red tape.

Note—Joe Green has the reputation of being the best friend of Herbert Hoover in the state department. Green worked under Hoover in Belgium during World war days and was arrested by the Germans on an espionage charge. Hoover personally came to his rescue, later helped get him a job in the state department.

Anti-Red Tape La Guardia.

PYROTECHNIC Mayor La-Guardia, civil defense administrator, vehemently does not like Washington red tape and does not intend to let it enmesh him.

He made this clear at his first press conference last week. The OPM press bureau sent two stenographers with stenotype machines to record the proceedings. LaGuardia took one look at the layout and with a sweep of his hand said, "None of that. That sort of thing is not necessary at my press conferences."

As the two astonished stenos gaped, he added: "I've been having press conferences for many years now, and there is no need to spend public money for a stenographic report. The reporters will get down everything worth taking. That's their job and they do it very well."

"But, Mr. Mayor," broke in one of the OPM press moguls, "it . . ."

"And another thing," snapped LaGuardia, "I run my own press conferences—without red tape."

Note—It was at this conference that LaGuardia, with the help of the newsmen, evolved the "National Unity" label for his spectacular Fourth of July program.

Family Quarrel.

BEHIND Chrysler Corporation's defiant refusal to bow to Defense Price Administrator Leon Henderson and withdraw its price boosts, is an interesting personal angle.

Legal advisers of the auto company in this dispute are former Attorney General Homer Cummings and his former assistant William Stanley.

Law partners since they left the government, Cummings and Stanley have a number of big business clients, and several weeks before the Chrysler controversy got out into the open, made a behind the-scenes effort to mollify Henderson.

Their first move was an invitation, made personally by Stanley, to visit the Chrysler plant as the guest of the company. Henderson's answer was an emphatic "No," plus a blunt warning that if Chrysler didn't back down on its defiant price increase the company would be publicly denounced and congress asked for compulsory price regulation legislation.

Later, Stanley again conferred with Henderson but without results. He stood pat on his demand that the company drop its kited prices before discussions were begun on whether it was entitled to charge more.

Note—In a straight-from-the-shoulder private talk to economists of the AFL, CIO and other labor organizations, Henderson urged them to counsel their executives to go slow in making excessive pay demands; that he would resist these as determinedly as profiteering by business.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

(Editor's Note: This is the second article in a series on night clubs.)

NEW YORK—If the real story of night clubs in New York could ever be pieced together it would make one of the daffiest chapters in the history of nocturnal entertainment.

But an accurate, detailed study of the night clubs as they were during prohibition seems out of the question. One would have to have access not only to secret files of the police but also the confidence of countless gangsters who now lie in unremembered graves. The mob didn't put its transactions into writing in those days. It paid off in cash—and in lead.

You would have to have an understanding of the whole complex machinery of the underworld during those years to appreciate how there could have been tens of thousands of night clubs, or speakeasies, in New York at one time.

This number seems incredible, yet it is said on good authority that when repeal came there were 32,000 speakeasies operating in the metropolitan district. Most of these picayune affairs—small, dingy rooms in cellars, behind garages with false fronts, and back of grocery stores. But some of them operated openly and brazenly all over town—on Broadway, on Park Avenue, everywhere.

The entertainment, except for individual stars, did not approach in quality the floor shows of today, but that was because the operators weren't interested in hiring scenic designers and competent directors from the Broadway theater. They obtained "name" personalities and surrounded them with choruses of undressed girls.

The mob was in too much of a hurry to make money to bother with timing and rehearsals. The entertainment never was much of a drawing card anyway It was the liquor, not the food or the show, that paid the freight.

I was talking with Billy Rose about those mushroom fortunes and how the spenders really operated, and he said:

"It was nothing for one of the money boys to spend $500. Getting rid of big dough was their stock in trade. They would put a $500 note on the table and say, 'Tony, I want to run through this.' They couldn't eat that much or drink that much, so they bought champagne for everybody, in the house. They didn't care who you were. If you were there, you got a bottle of $25 champagne. That same champagne today costs you between $10 and $14.

"That's one of the differences between night clubs then and now—prices. You don't have to spend money now, except a minimum charge. But you had to then. They would throw you out if you didn't. Larry Fay wouldn't even speak to a customer who spent less than $200.

Night clubs today are here to make money, too, though the nature of the entertainment frequently spells the difference between success and failure. Relieved of the necessity of ducking behind closed doors, people shop leisurely and casually for their entertainment today.

(Tomorrow: George Tucker takes you to a night club.)

A Farmer's Diary

Some Questions

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

HAVE you stood waist deep in a field of ripe wheat at dusk and watched the fireflies play up and down through the heavy golden heads?

Have you hoed a row of corn when the green blades were wet with early morning dew and a big drop showed in the funnel of each plant? Did you smell the growing corn and feel the soft earth yield beneath your feet as you watched the corn come clean beneath your hoe?

DID you notice the single blazing Oriental poppy blooming among the gray-green burdocks behind the barn—or see the sly splotched toad who lives beneath the spreading dock?

Have you known a blue-eyed six-year-old whose tanned face was smeared with sweat and blood and tears until at last he broke into a triumphant grin as he pointed to a gaping hole where his first 'baby tooth' came out?

Have you seen a baby five minutes after he found a jar of jam?

Have you stretched full length in long grass beside an old rail fence and been hidden by standing walls of green while you watched the stars?

Did you see wild roses bloom?

HAVE you watched two kittens, one black, the other vividly splotched with white and orange catch an amazing grasshopper and wonder what to do with him?

Can you enjoy the jubilant hearty croak of a big bullfrog deep in a cool green marsh?

Did you ever stand on a hilltop when a storm came up and let the wind blow over you bringing the cool sweet smell of rain? Did you exult in the breath of coolness and lift your face to feel the big warm drops, while your spirits rode the wind?

"All shapes and sounds have something which is not
Of them: a spirit broods amid the grass;
Vague outlines of the Everlasting Thought
Lie in the melting shadows as they pass;
The touch of an eternal presence thrills
The fringes of the sunsets and the hills."

WEATHER GETS FIDELITY MARK IN TREE RINGS

Show No Decline In Rainfall Apparent In U. S. In Past 600 Years.

CHICAGO —(ILP)— The word is dendrochronology, but don't let that frighten you. It means the study of dating events by the rings in trees. It reveals:

1—The United States isn't getting any drier. If you are parched, it's only the rainfall cycle. But in the last 600 years there has been no evident decrease in rainfall.

2—There is no such thing as an "American weather." There are several. One region can have extreme drouth and another heavy rainfall.

3—Efficient utilization of rainfall is as important as volume. Wasteful run-off can produce the same harmful effects as drouth.

Those conclusions are made by Dr. Florence Hawley of the University of Chicago in her recently-published study, "Tree Ring Analysis and Dating in the Mississippi Drainage."

Because of her discoveries, archaeologists can now date Indian relics 200 years before Columbus discovered America. And meteorologists can carry weather reports back to 1318 A. D.

Simplified, dendrochronology is based on the fact that each tree adds one ring annually. The ring is thick in a wet year and thin in a dry year. But Dr. Hawley studied 10,000 specimens, including five species of trees. By eliminating "freak" rings due to unusual location, she averaged the variations in the thickness of rings, and drew a master chart from the results.

Everything from Indian charcoal hunks to door jambs from old log cabins were used in the survey. Old barrel staves provided much of the data.

FILINGS REQUIRED

SKIATOOK, Okla.—(INS)—Candidates for office in Skiatook must file twice. One ward of Skiatook lies in Osage county, and two wards are in Tulsa county. The candidates are required to file in both counties so that voters may cast ballots for or against them in all three of the town's wards.

Bab's Stepmother Marries

Stepmother of Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz-Reventlow, the Woolworth heiress, Mrs. Franklin Hutton, and James A. Moffett, the oil financier and former federal housing administrator, were married at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. It was the third marriage for both.

PENS AUTOBIOGRAPHY

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Charlotte Greenwood, the comedienne, is writing the story of her colorful life for a book titled "Not Too Tall." Miss Greenwood began the autobiography two years ago and several publishers have sought the printing rights. However, Miss Greenwood still has several chapters to complete but they'll have to wait until she finishes her work in the musical, "Miami."

The Secret of the Marshbanks + + +

By Kathleen Norris

(Copyright, 1941)

CHAPTER XXIX

Both looked beaten. Kelly's face was gray, and Fran was obviously exhausted. Her eyes, sunken in rings of pale violet, went almost without recognition to Cherry's. She said faintly she was going to rest before dinner.

"You'll want your dinner upstairs, Fran," Cherry said, all sympathy.

"No, no," the other woman said feverishly. "I don't want to be alone. I'll lie down for a while!"

Kelly, shedding his coat and hat, drew Cherry into the drawing room.

"You're hot!" he said anxiously. "Feel all right? You haven't caught cold?"

"No, I've been near a fire. Kelly, what's happened?"

His hair was mussed; his eyes were dark with fatigue. He put his arms about her, and their cheeks touched.

"What a comfortable person you are, Cherry!" he said. "But your face feels hot, sweetheart."

"Has it been horrible, Kelly?"

"Well, bad. Yes," he admitted. "It's been a long drag. They've questioned her; they've tried to shake her. I don't know what it's all about."

"But they don't believe her, Kelly?"

"They didn't for a while. I don't know what they believe now."

"You told them she was lying?"

"I told them the truth. I feel sorry for her, but I wish I knew what she's after."

"They'll not believe her," the girl said confidently.

"They didn't to begin with. But after several hours—you know, Cherry," Kelly said interrupting himself, "it occurred to me for the first time today what a conviction means to an innocent man. It happens. It's even happened when it was carried as far as execution."

"Oh, hush!" she said impatiently.

"Yes, I know. But I'm not talking about myself. I'm just saying that there have been cases of innocent men being convicted. It's the damndest feeling. Evidence piling up, and men whose mentality isn't of the first order weighing it and misconstruing it and coming to their own conclusions. Hours going by and smoke thick in the air, and a woman as white as a sheet answering again. 'Mr. Coates and I had often said we wished my husband was out of the way.' Mr. Coates had told me of poisons, without ever mentioning that he thought we would ever use them.'"

"She didn't say that!"

"Over and over. She had them guessing, all right!"

"But what did you say?"

"That I had never had the slightest animosity toward the judge, that I couldn't understand Mrs. Marshbanks' statements . . . I only stopped in to see you a minute, dear. I'm on my way home; I'll be back tomorrow."

"Kelly!" Instinctively she clung to him, her eyes frightened. "Don't go away! If I could only go with you! If we could only be alone over there, out of all this, where it's cool and quiet, just by ourselves! If we could have a fire, talk and forget it all!"

"We will, Cherry. This won't last long. Before you know it we'll be heading for San Rafael, we'll get that license, and have lunch, and then go back to Topcote, and fuss around getting it ready . . ."

"It sounds like heaven!" she stammered, laughing through tears. Then she raised her face for his last kiss.

May stopped Cherry as she was slowly and thoughtfully mounting the stairs.

"Would you go in to see Mrs. Jud, please?" the maid said.

Cherry's voice was all reluctance and distaste. "Did she ask to see me?"

"She did before ever Mr. Coates left. She was so upset we telephoned the doctor."

As Cherry approached the silken, pillowed, low bed where Fran was lying, she made no attempt to smile; only despair and resentment were in her heart.

"Cherry," Fran said, in a tragic, quiet voice. "Sit down, won't you? Has Kelly been talking to you?"

"Yes, we were talking," Cherry said coldly. And then suddenly breaking, and sinking on her knees before the bed, "Fran, how could you! You know you had nothing to do with this all, and you know Kelly didn't!"

"I think I'm going crazy," Fran whispered, her eyes closed, her feverish hand tight on Cherry's. "I suddenly—suddenly wanted it all to be over—to be out of it! And Kelly had loved me, Cherry."

Still acting. Cherry's heart, opened on a sudden impulse of hope and confidence, closed again in despair.

"What do you think they will do?" Fran breathed the question, not opening her eyes.

"I don't know what they'll do. I know it will ruin his life," Cherry answered bitterly.

"Oh, no, no, no! Oh, my head!" Fran murmured. "Amy's here," she announced faintly.

"Yes, I know." Cherry sat back on her heels, chilled and weary. "They stopped off here on their way to Del Monte," she said.

"They're not on their way anywhere until they find out the meaning of that notice from Comstock. I never knew anyone to show his hand quite as plainly as Gogo did!"

"You saw him?"

"No, but she came in here a few minutes ago to find you. She'd been crying. And married yesterday!"

"She wanted me?"

"Yes. It seems Gogo couldn't wait to go down to the office tomorrow, and telephoned the lawyer tonight. Comstock's coming up at half past eight. He asked Gogo if he knew how to get in touch with you, and Gogo said you were right here."

"Tonight!"

"And Cherry," Fran said, opening her tired beautiful eyes, "about this other thing, don't judge me too hard! I never would have dragged Kelly in. They did that—these great husky beasts of men—asking me question after question!"

"But why should you say you did it, Fran?" Cherry demanded simply. It was all like a dream anyway; nothing mattered, except that her head ached so terribly and she felt so hot and dull.

"Because I did it," Fran persisted. "Or at least I know who did!" she added half aloud. "Or at least I think I do."

"But you wouldn't say who did it to protect Kelly, Fran?"

"Why should I? Nobody's protecting me. I'm sick of the whole thing." Fran tossed on her pillows. "I think I'm going out of my mind!" she said in a whisper. "I'm going down to dinner, Cherry," she added. "I can't stay here and think or I'll go mad! I keep hearing their stupid fat voices and answering their questions and I can't stand it!"

At dinner they all talked trivialities by fits and starts. When the lawyers arrived Cherry and Gogo and Amy took them into the drawing room, and sat solemnly facing them.

Cherry was tired. She felt her face blazing and her hands cold. George Comstock, serious and middle-aged and heavy, opened a long envelope and took from it another long envelope. He asked which of the young women was Amelia Marshbanks, and, upon Amy claiming the title, handed it ceremoniously to her.

Amy opened it. The lawyer then stretched his hand for it, and she surrendered it obediently enough. He read it aloud.

"My dear daughters, if both of you survive until the day set for the reading of this will," it began. Cherry's head was rocking. By this time she was gripped in the deadly hold of aches and pains, chills and fever. With even her most desperate effort she could not seem to understand what George Comstock was reading:

" . . . beg you, my daughters, who read this, to believe that it was only the conviction that my child by my wife could not possibly survive, and my hope that the the substitution of Charlotte's baby in her place would be an act of charity to all concerned. . ."

It was true. The expressions on the faces of the others told her; she was Amelia Marshbanks, Amy was Charlotte Rawlings. The long mystery had come to its end. . .

The voices about Cherry seemed suddenly loud and confusing. She remembered saying, "Air!" and then everything was blackness.

Cherry awoke three days later to a new world. She had been vaguely, uncomfortably conscious of what was going on about her through long nights and sleepy days. Now it was morning.

"May, I feel wonderful," she suddenly said to the maid. "Was I very sick?"

"Well, we had the doctor come in once," May said, "and then yesterday he looked in when he was here to see Mrs. Marshbanks."

"Fran?"

"Yes. She and Miss Amy—the countess—excuse me!—had high strikes and goodness know what," May said mildly.

"But, good gracious, May, I felt as if I was dying!"

"That's the way you get when you have flu," May warned her. Mr. Coates was real worried about you."

"Was he here?"

"Right along until this morning. He went home this morning to get a shave and a bath and some sleep. He's coming back. Mrs. Marshbanks," May pursued with a jerk of her head toward Fran's room, "retracted. That's what they call it. She confessed and then she said he did it, and then she retracted that."

A great wave of utter thankfulness and peace to match the relief of her body went through Cherry's soul.

"Mrs. Marshbanks said she'd not been telling the truth?"

FINISH PLANS FOR JULY 4TH PROGRAM HERE

Fireworks To Top Full Day of Events at Fairground; Big Day For Kiddies.

Mansfield is going to get a big bang out of the Fourth of July this year and it's not going to be entirely from firecrackers There are, of course, going to be firecrackers.

Starting at 9:45 p. m., and lasting for an hour the city is going to be treated to a huge display of them at the fairgrounds.

But one of the principal parts of the fairground program is going to be sponsored by the city's newly reorganized playgrounds. From 2:45 p. m. until 9:45 p. m. when the fireworks start, the playground children expect to pretty well control the entire show. Included in their program are foot races, folk dancing, bicycle plank races, a pie eating contest, a rhythm band, chariet races and rubber tire races

At 5:30 p. m. the show will pause while Don Cram, secretary of the W. P. A. and Y. M. C. A. park committee, give away two bicycles, one for a girl and one for a boy. Both bicycles will be given to registrants at the park playgrounds.

Cram announced yesterday that the "Parade of the Nation Through Television" pageant will open at 8:30 p. m.

The pageant will show various historic scenes from American history in pantomime with a sound background furnished by loud speakers and a narrator.

Two truck loads of fireworks will furnish the closing program.

This will be the last year that firecrackers will be allowed in the state, except for public demonstrations. A new state law taking affect Aug 1 will prohibit their sale Mansfield city council has prohibited fireworks to be sold within the city limits for several years. City officials warn against the use of any firecrackers within city limits at any time although until the law can take effect they are powerless to close stands just outside the city limits.

OUST STARLINGS

PHILADELPHIA —(INS)— Howard W. Murphy, Chief of the Philadelphia Bureau of City Property thinks he has found a way of driving out starlings although experiments in other American cities have failed. Murphy has lined several ledges of Philadelphia's City Hall building with spikes placed in strips of metal. That, hopes Murphy, ought to get them.

Getting Ready for July 4 Festivities

It's two days until the Fourth of July, but workmen are already busy at the Mansfield fairground setting up frameworks and stands for the big fireworks display Friday night. Three of the fireworks experts are shown in the above picture preparing the setting for the display. They are, left to right, Joseph McCrum, T. G. Audino, and L. J. Polley.

TVA Tops Safety Record of Large Power Companies

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—(INS)—A safety record of more than three years without a fatal accident and a 1940 record below the average of 21 large utility companies in both frequency and severity of accidents has been reported by the Department of Power Operations of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The severity rate for the department was 84 per cent below the large utility average—0 3 as compared with 1.85. The low has been maintained for two years.

The department stood twelfth in the list of 21 utilities in frequency of accidents in the standings of the National Safety Council.

The department's record is the result of teamwork of management and personnel in carrying out the safety program of the Authority. J. A. Krug, manager of power, said.

JOHN M'SWEENEY SPEAKS AT PICNIC

Dolly Madison Club Holds Last Meeting of the Year at Home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bromfield; McSweeney Speaks on Patriotism.

THE Honorable John McSweeney, Wooster, was the guest speaker Tuesday evening at the Dolly Madison picnic held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bromfield, Malabar Farm. For his subject he spoke to the group on "Precept, An Example of Patriotism." He pointed out that if people of German, English, Russian, Italian and French descent in this country can live peacefully with people of different nationalities it should be easier to live with people of their own country more peacefully. He also illustrated his talk by using the experiences of some of the earlier presidents, Lincoln, Jefferson and Wilson.

Two hundred members and guests of the Dolly Madison organization attended the picnic. Preceding the dinner the guests made a tour of the Bromfield rock gardens which are now in full bloom. The picnic dinner was then served in the picnic lot. Mrs. Clark Brooks, president, introduced Louis Bromfield who gave a short speech of welcome.

Guests in attendance at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. McSweeney, Wooster, Mrs. Mildred Jaster, national Democratic committeewoman of Ohio, and Mrs. Lena Sifert, cashier in the state treasurer's office, from Columbus. Mr. and Mrs. Bromfield were hosts for the picnic. The next session will be held Sept. 2.

Garden Party Honors Bride-Elect Tuesday

Mrs. John Villella and Mrs. Anthony Mollica, Woodhill road, were hostesses Tuesday at a garden party held in honor of Miss Mary Villella, Alliance, bride-elect of Frank Petros, Minnerva, Ohio. Thirty-five guests attended the party which was held in the Mollica garden. Eight tables of cards were in play during the evening. Prizes were won by the honoree, Mrs. Lazar Kostoff, Mrs. Anthong Di Gregoria and Miss Mary Reals.

Luncheon was served buffet style from a long table decorated with garden flowers. The small tables where the guests were seated were decorated with garden flowers and lighted tapers in white and silver. A shower of miscellaneous gifts was presented the honoree at the close of the evening.

MISS JANE RIZER and Miss Margaret Herrold left Sunday for a two weeks' tour of the southern states. They will visit at Camp Shelby, Miss., as guests of Corp. Leslie Snyder and Sgt. Howard Parathoner. . . . Miss Margaret DeWitt, Helen avenue, Miss Naomi Stutz, 451 Newman street, and Miss Mary Garver, Ohio State Reformatory, will leave today for the east. Miss DeWitt, a member of the high school faculty, will take a summer course at Columbia university and Miss Stutz will again serve as a secretary at the school. Miss Garver will go with them as far as Harrisburg, Pa., and from there will travel to Elmira, N. Y., to visit her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pierce, former Mansfield residents.

Smart Costumes Appear for Sports

Mary Taylor Weds Robert Frary at Home of Parents

Miss Mary Eileen Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scott W. Taylor, 280 Hedges street, exchanged nuptial vows Tuesday at 2 p. m. with Robert E. Frary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Frary, Burbank, Ohio. The ceremony was performed before an improised altar banked with palms and ferns and two beauty baskets of garden flowers at the home of the bride's parents.

Rev. Orville Wilson of Burbank performed the ceremony. For her wedding the bride wore a pink shadow organdy street length dress with white accessories and a corsage of white roses and blue forget-me-nots. Her only jewelry was a rhinestone bracelet. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for members of the immediate families.

Mrs. Taylor appeared at her daughter's wedding in a violet dress with white accessories and a corsage of roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a black and white ensemble with white accessories and a corsage of roses. The bride is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and has been employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manulacturing company. The bridegroom is a graduate of Burbank high school and is engaged in agricultural work in Burbank.

Following the reception the couple left for an extended southern trip. For traveling the bride wore a red and white ensemble with red accessories and a corsage of red roses. After July 15 the couple will be at home in Burbank.

Poise, Essential Quality for the Modern Woman

By MAX FACTOR, JR.

HOLLYWOOD — Poise is essential to feminine glamour—just as much so as appearance perfection.

My mind was directed to a contemplation of the above subject on the recent occasion of Ginger Rogers winning the coveted Academy Award for being the most outstanding actress of 1940, with this honor being bestowed upon Ginger for her truly distinguished performance in the RKO Studio production, "Kitty Foyle."

In that picture, Miss Rogers' superb poise was truly a noteworthy thing. At all times she was visibly in command of herself, and of every dramatic situation in which she was placed. And in every instance, Ginger demonstrated to a high degree how poise can so greatly add to a woman's glamour.

When Miss Rogers made her first screen appearances, approximately a decade ago, she was, as you remember, a talented "cute kid" type of person. Her appearance, her actions, and a not too great abundance of poise were all a part of this fact.

The Ginger Rogers we know today is a completely different personage. We can see how she has ambitiously and intelligently developed her dramatic talents to a prize-winning degree. The chic of her appearance reflects her appreciation and use of all of the refinements in grooming which have been perfected during recent years. And both on and off screen, Ginger is glamorously poised.

Usually, poise is a characteristic which is not naturally apparent in the average person. But it really is a fact, however, that poise can be acquired, and that the process of acquisition need not be a difficult one.

CHURCH CHOIR HONORS MEMBERS WITH PARTY

Miss Louise Seybold, Bride-Elect of Lieut. Harvey Lisle, and Mrs. Robert W. Hannum, Former Margaret Jane Pasheilich Honored.

MEMBERS of St. Paul's Lutheran church choir honored two of their members at a party Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lee, 522 Forest avenue. Honored guests were Miss Louise Seybold, bride-elect of Lieut. Harvey Lisle and Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hannum, nee Margaret Jane Pasheilich.

During the evening the guests played hearts. Prizes were won by Miss Seybold and Mr. Hannum. Luncheon was served at small tables decorated with garden flowers and hurricane lamps. Appointments were in yellow and blue. The 20 guests in attendance presented the honorees with gifts of linen.

Miss Seybold and Mr. Lisle will be married Sunday, July 13, at 4 p. m. at the St. Paul Lutheran church. The ceremony will be open to friends and relatives of the couple.

Present Musical Program at Meet

Members of the Rain and Shine class of the South Main Street Evangelical church held their regular meeting Tuesday evening in the church parlors. Mrs. William Frickman, president, conducted the business session. A devotional period was led by Mrs. J. A. Kochheiser and Mrs. Cloyd Briner. During the business sessions plans were made to sew for the Red Cross.

Following the business session a musical program was presented by Miss Urith Funston, Miss Iona O'Hearen and Mrs. John Dovensbarger and daughter and son, Eileen and Jack. Luncheon was served tray style at the close of the meeting. Members of the serving committee were Mrs. Julia Grandstaff, Mrs. Ada Haldeman, Mrs. Lee Harley, Mrs. Clyde Hissong, Miss Myrtle Harris and Mrs. Harry Russell. Program arrangements were in charge of Miss Edna Frasher and Mrs. Millie Rinehart.

Soldiers' Wives Write to Miss Fairfax

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

On my way to New York recently I sat opposite a very pretty young woman in the dining car. The girl had been crying. No dabs of powder from a compact could conceal that. With a convulsive little gasp, she seemed to feel some explanation was due me.

"I've just parted from my husband; he is at Fort ——." Then she wept some more. "It's not that he's been drafted. We've got to face that, hard as it is. But it's the silly regulations that make me wild."

"What for instance?" I asked.

"My husband has been sent to a post in a southern state. The thermometer has been around ninety; yet the men can't change their winter uniforms until May 15. They are already in khaki at another camp in the same state."

"What's the reason for that?"

"The colonel's wife wears the pants. She's a martinet for the letter of the law. The colonel's fine, but she rules the roost. At the other post, I was telling you about, where the men are already in the khaki, the big boss does his own bossing and his wife minds her own business.

The girl made another ineffectual dab at her eye and told the waiter to bring her some coffee.

The spectacle of the weeping bride persisted, and when I got back to Washington, I called up several branches of the war department and learned it was within the jurisdiction of the commanding officer to determine when soldiers change to their summer clothing. Full quotas of khaki had been sent to the post mentioned. Take the story for what it's worth. If it's true, I hope it meets the eye of the lady who "wears the pants."

Kay Stammers, British No. 1 Wimbledon tennis star, married her childhood sweetheart Michael Menzies shortly after the war began. Since then she has been "following the army." In spite of the dread of German bombers, she managed to keep house in a cottage, stay at boarding houses and tourist homes and put in her time doing canteen work. She says: "I must be one of the luckiest army wives in England, and Michael and I are going to live our normal lives wherever we are."

The following letter gives still another wifely point of view:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"If the army can get any good out of Leb, they're welcome to him. I've done my darnedest to make a man of him for the past ten years. Here's hoping Uncle Sam has better luck with the job

"Wife."

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

I did not need to hear the reply which Mary was getting over the telephone, nad I was prepared for her message when she held out the telephone to me — she had sprung to my bedside to answer it—and whispered:

"It's a man who says he's Gus, and that you're expecting a call from him."

I nodded. "It's all right," I whispered back, as I took the telephone from her hands. Then I spoke aloud into it.

"Is this Gus? This is Mrs. Graham."

"Gee!" His voice fairly caroled thankfulness. "Your voice is sure some better. Are you feeling all right?"

"I am perfectly all right." I assured him. "I can go along exactly as if nothing had happened. But tell me, where are you?"

"Everything Safe," Gus Reports.

"Where should I be?" he countered, "but at your father's place? I wouldn't be telephoning you if we hadn't reached here. We've sent for the doctor, although there really isn't any need for him, but I knew you'd feel better if we had him."

"I should definitely," I told him. "And I know my father would wish you to consult one."

"I know that,' he said. "But I wanted to tell you that everything is safe. Do you want me to telephone you after the doctor comes?"

I reflected for the fraction of a second, visioned the program before me, and made my decision.

"No, that won't be necessary, Gus," I said. "My father will be here after a little, and then he will get in contact with you."

"Okay," Gus said, with patent relief that I wished no more reports, and I put back the telephone and smiled up at Mary.

"Don't bother to come in here and answer this again," I told her. "Ronald will call now at any moment. While I am resting, I cannot sleep, and I can take up this receiver at any second."

Mary Wants To Talk.

"But it might be somebody else," she said stubbornly, "somebody you wouldn't need to engage in idle conversation, which is my long suit. So turn over on your side again and I'll sit right here, the perfect social secretary. I warn you, if you don't I'm going to talk you to death. I'm just bursting with conversation, and not all of it is idle."

The veiled intimation, confirming my intuition that she was troubled about something and wished to confide her anxiety to me, made me obey her promptly. Later, I told myself, when there was a free and undisturbed moment for both of us, I would encourage her to tell me what was worrying her. But not now, although I vowed it should be before the morning dawned.

"That's right," Mary said, as I buried my head in the pillow. "Here's hoping Ronald has tire trouble, or something, so he'll be late in calling you. I'd like to see you get a few minutes of sleep anyway."

Ronald Anxious About Marion.

But her wish was not gratified, for the telephone rang again promptly at two o'clock, and when Mary answered she said only, "Ronald? Yes, she's right here," and held the telephone out to me.

"Aunt Madge?" Ronald's voice was raucous with excitement. "Wasn't that 'Z's voice?" and I noted that he was using the subterfuge upon which my father and I had agreed.

"Yes, she's here with me," I answered, knowing what his next question would be, and dreading to give him the answer I must.

"Oh!" He caught his breath on the word, and I knew that anguished suspense was consuming him as actual fire might do. "Did she find out anything? Could she understand—you know what?"

"She's sure she can understand it as soon as she gets a certain book in her hands," I told him, trying to give him the maximum of hope out of a minimum of facts.

"A book?" he repeatedd. "Oh! I guess I understand. But—where is that book? How long before she can get hold of it? Doesn't she realize what danger 'X' may be in while she's waiting around?"

Cook Outdoors For Picnic In Summer

By BETSY NEWMAN

IF YOU are picnic bound, plan your meal with care. Most people like to cook at least part of the meal out of doors. Why not take a hot casserole dish of vegetables, a cake and fruit, and cook the meat and coffee on the picnic fire?

Today's Menu.

Broiled Beef Tenderloins
Vegetable Casserole
Radishes Green Onions
Picnic Chocolate Cake
Bananas Strawberries Cherries
Coffee

Picnic Chocolate Cake.

2½ cups flour
2 teaspoons soda
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or similar fat
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup maple syrup
4 tablespoons cocoa
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg
1 cup sour milk

Sift flour, measure and sift with soda and salt. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, creaming it in well; add maple syrup, cocoa, vanilla and slightly beaten egg and mix well. Add dry ingredients alternately with sour milk, stirring after each addition until smooth. Turn into 2 greased layer pans and bake in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees F., 35 to 40 minutes. Frost with Maple Butter Frosting.

* * *

Maple Butter Frosting.

⅓ cup maple syrup
4 tablespoons butter
1 egg white
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
3 cups confectioner's sugar

Put maple syrup and butter in top part of double boiler and place directly over heat until butter is melted, stirring together to blend well; add sugar gradually, stirring in as it is added. Put over hot water and let stand 10 minutes, then remove from stove. Beat egg white with salt, fold into maple and sugar mixture, add vanilla and when cool, spread between layers and on top of cake.

* * *

Vegetable Casserole.

1 can kernel corn or quick frozen
Butter
1 can lima beans or quick frozen
Salt and pepper

If you use canned vegetables, drain off a portion of the liquor and turn them into a casserole. Season with salt and pepper, dot with butter, and bake until well heated through. Cover casserole, wrap in several thicknesses of newspaper, and take to the picnic grounds with you.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

IT WORKS ON THE BEST

It is somewhat moth-eaten now for a player to make a forcing bid with the suit in which he is weak, for the purpose of preventing the opponents from leading it. Every experienced player has encountered that kind of bidding, and has sworn he will not let it fool him again. But just the same it still works against the best of them once in a while, earning a score which would be impossible by normal tactics.

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♣	3 ♦
3 ♠	4 ♦	5 ♣	Pass

On that bidding, West could hardly make any lead except a heart. He led the J, and two tricks were taken, the declarer just making his contract.

At another table in the same match point duplicate, South opened with the same 1-Spade and West passed. North was about ready for 5-Spades now, with his perfect fit, his big club suit and his lack of diamond losers. If he could stop heart losers, there should be a slam in the cards, so he forced South with 3-Hearts. South made his natural rebid of 3-Spades and North then bid 4-Diamonds, knowing the bidding would stay open, since he had guaranteed game by putting the force on the side.

When South then showed a secondary heart fit at 4-Hearts, North jumped to 6-Spades. What would you lead against that? Remember, North had forced with hearts, had next bid diamonds. South had shown a heart fit, and then they got together in a spade slam. Isn't the heart suit about the last thing you would think of leading? You might lead North's second suit, diamonds, or you might lead a club, preferably the latter. That is exactly what West did lead, his club 10, and South took all the tricks, six in clubs, two diamond ruffs and five spades.

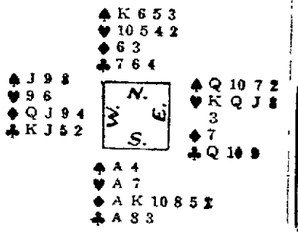
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer North, North-South vulnerable.)

If as South you decided to open this deal with 3-No Trumps as a shot at top score, the others all passed and West led the diamond Q, how would you try to make your contract?

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, July 3.

THE LUNAR transits for this day are not entirely favorable to contentment, accomplishment and peace of mind. In fact their influence is to the contrary and all depends upon the amount of poise, strategy and diplomacy directly brought to bear on difficult or discordant situations. This is the state of affairs both in public and intimate relations, with danger of untoward occurrences in the former and unhappy ones in the latter. Shun extravagance and ill will and there may be some profit and personal satisfaction, tact and finesse ruling the day.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be put to it to save a difficult and doubtful state of affairs by the exercise of tact, diplomacy and graciousness in spots where the situation is adverse, discordant and threatening. Several elements enter into this challenge, with loss through extravagance or excessive expenditure as well as danger through some sort of public conflict or menace. With subdued impulses and inner urges there might be artistic or spiritual balm to offset difficulties or woes.

A child born on this day may have talents of a high creative or artistic nature, with inner vision or aspiration serving where more material urges would prove disappointing.

Soviet Tanker Manned By a Crew of Women

MOSCOW—(ONS)—The Soviet oil tanker, Emba (7,886 tons), plying regularly in the Caspian Sea, has a crew consisting almost entirely of women.

The captain is a 25-year-old girl named Maria Bryzgalova. She has received a thorough training, serving first as a deckhand on a training ship and later as second and first mate on freighters and passenger steamers.

The boatswain is only 19 years old. She manages and organizes the administrative work of the vessel.

The second engineer, also a woman, is the oldest member of the crew. For a long time she served afloat as a cook and later, with the assistance of her captain, she studied and obtained her engineer's certificate.

THEATERS

Stage Attraction.

"Follies Unique," French stage presentation opens a two-day engagement at the Ohio theater today. Featuring acts that have won the approval of Jack Benny, Phil Harris and Walter Winchell the production is heralded as "the only show in the world featuring a chorus of authentic international beauty prize winners" Susan Page, hosiery model whose legs are reported to be insured for $25,000 appears in the production The Radio Ramblers Babette, a French charmer, and the Wilfred Mae Trio are other attractions. Damon Runyon's short-story classic, "Tight Shoes," is the film feature with John Howard, Broderick Crawford and Binnie Barnes.

Arlen Saves Picture.

The scarcity of airport space in Southern California due to defense program activities almost cancelled plans for the filming of "Power Dive," air thriller, showing at the Madison. Richard Arlen, star of the picture, saved the day by lending his facilities at the Metropolitan airport where he makes his headquarters. One of the film colony's sky-riding enthusiasts Arlen operates 14 planes in conjunction with his air service. Arlen is supported by Roger Pryor and Jean Arthur. Jane Withers in "A Very Young Lady," is the companion feature.

Mystery Thriller.

Mystery thriller that packs a wallop, "Shadows On the Stairs," showing at the Ritz features Paul Cavanagh in the role of a London boarding house lodger who uncovers the activities of a band of criminals. Frieda Inescort plays the owner of the house who joins Cavanagh in his search. Cast in the roles of the lovers who refuse to let crime interfere with romance are Heather Angel and Bruce Lester. "Washington Melodrama," is the co-attraction.

Family Drama.

Absorbing drama of a father, his four sons and the two women who fight for their affections is told in 'Adam Had Four Sons," opening Thursday at the Park. Warner Baxter is cast as the father and Susan Hayward, the modern "Scarlett O'Hara," who wrecks havoc on the family. Fay Wray plays Baxter's wife, whose death precipitates a tragedy. Others in the cast are Johnny Downs, Helen Westley and Gregory Ratoff. "Robin Hood of the Pecos," the second feature, presents Roy Rogers as a young Confederate soldier who sets out to rid Texas of the carpet-baggers after the Civil War.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Broadway Bulletin Board.

HOWARD TIERNEY, Gene's father, is retaining one of the town's top lawyers to effect an annulment of her marriage to Count Oleg Cassini, his intimates say.

Dorothy Kilgallen

Bandleader Artie Shaw will be a bridegroom for the fourth time if Mexican Actress Margo will say "yes." . . . Cornelius Vanderbilt and Hedy LaMarr are a new Hollywood gab-provoker.

Harry Warren and Al Dubin, two of the nation's top song writers, are both seriously ill on the coast. . . . Judy Garland and Dave Rose have set July 12 as their wedding date.

Benny Goodman is a night club owner now. Monte Proser couldn't pay off the Goodman band after the Madison Square Garden fiasco, so he settled by giving Benny a piece of his piece of the Copacabana!

Talk of the cafe glitter set is Liz Whitney's feud with Rose Fiske, widow of Billy Fiske. It seems the girls used to be bosom pals, and, since young Fiske's death, Rose has been living in a house, on Liz's Virginia estate.

Suddenly, Liz presented Rose with a bill for rent—and Rose, according to the teacup talk, says Liz invited her to live in the cottage with no mention of rent. There's even mention of a lawsuit—and "they" say the whole thing started when one of the girls stole a beau from the other!

Jane Withers' beau is a cameraman at 20th Century-Fox, and it's serious, just to make you feel old . . . Broadway Rose doesn't know that a national picture magazine has had a candid cameraman trailing her for two weeks.

Anne Nagle, widow of Screen Actor Ross Alexander, has had to postpone her marriage to Ensign John S. Robertson. She was all set to sail for the war-clouded Dutch East Indies for the wedding—when the government rejected her application for a passport.

Frances O'Neal, who used to be Franchot Tone's flame, is now Vic Orsatti's . . . Lady Furness and Edmund Lowe aren't ribbin'. She poured tea for him on his studio set the other day—and when a girl pours tea for a lad in movietown, that's serious.

Glamor girl Veronica Lake (Mrs. John Detlie) will await the arrival of the bambino on Cape Cod . . . Sandra Rambeau's trip to Mexico City was to join the group of international refugees gathering there so rapidly these days. For what?

There's a campaign on among local belles in the nitery set to get Maurice, the Monte Carlo doorman, the Victor Mature part in "Lady In the Dark" when it reopens. They say Maurice makes $100 a week in tips, because the girls think he's so pretty!

Jeffrey Lynn and Dana Dale have renewed it . . . Are Edwin Gilbert, the playwright, and Virginia Smith, the Shubert dancer, secretly Mr. and Mrs.?

Ricardo Cortez is bedded with Summer flu . . . That vacant ringside table at the Hurricane every night last week was reserved for Prince Bishnu of Nepal—who wanted to come to see Honeychile Wilder, but didn't show because his No. 1 girl, Stephanie Marks, wouldn't let him!

What's this about Tony Martin shifting from Lana Turner to Jane Russell, who has the same kind of oomph? . . . Katharine Harriman, who went to the war zone with her father to write articles on the European crisis, and Quentin Reynolds, the war correspondent, are a London item.

Playboy Bill Ellsworth flew in his own plane from Bar Harbor to the opening of the swank Island club in Montauk the other night, made eight straight passes at the dice table, picked up thousands of "clams" and flew back to Maine!

Bob Crosby is burned over the reports that his band is folding. He says the three-week layoff is just a needed vacation for his boys.

Jackie Coogan's date, when he had a two-day furlough from army camp, was Betty Grable, his ex-wife. But it's no reconciliation—they're just good companions. Her real fellah is still George Ratt.

Vera Shea, the Riviera showgirl, and Les Campbell, of the soup family, are a heart toddy. She's wearing a ring from him.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — DeMille has changed his costume, he has changed his title and picture, but he has not changed his "act."

The customary DeMillian boots and riding pants were abandoned when he began this one—he now works in mufti, with an eyeshade to complete the effect.

The picture this time is "Reap the Wild Wind," another swashbuckler with a Florida Keys setting in antebellum days. Paulette Goddard is the heroine, and Ray Milland, John Wayne, Robert Preston, Raymond Massey are among the hovering males.

The act? Still the same DeMille routine, ever interesting to watch, as today on a scene in Milland's boat, about to be invaded by ruffians with Shanghaiing intent.

The boat is in the studio tank, with real waves rippling gently shoreward to merge with painted ripples on the huge beach cyclorama—real as life until a propman stands up midway, watching, and rests his elbow on a wave.

Paulette is at her post on deck, ready with bucket and belaying pin to join in the fray—for Loxi Claiborne is no swooning ingenue but right handy in a brawl. The pluguglies are on deck, taking further directions from the Master, who is by the camera on its platform. He is close enough to be heard easily without it, but the loudspeaker is on and through it his voice penetrates to every corner of the stage. Thus all, including visitors, may have a ringside seat on the Master's Mood.

The monologue, during rehearsal, goes something like this:

"You, Romanoff, are sprawled there—NO! NOT THERE—there! No, HIGHER. Fall, now—NO, NO, NO! There, that's it. . . . Now, action . . ."

Business of the scene, bodies sprawling, Paulette wielding her weapons. DeMille again, irritation rising:

"No, No, NO!"

To Paulette, his star, with sarcasm: "DARLING, you must have been born on an express train! Take your time! REGISTER! Let the audience see everything you do. I don't know how to get this through that skull of yours—unless I knock it in."

* * *

DeMille goes on. "Hurry—hurry—hurry. Time is precious. Not that. No, over here! Get up, Romanoff! Yes, yes, yes. No, NO, NO-O-O!" The gods are angry. Olympus rages. DeMille is making a movie.

Chatter Corner

(Just jottings about people you know, as they're seen here and there about town.)

George Rogers "setting up" the clerk of courts office to "cokes" . . . Mary Jane Bellore planning a week-end to Niagara Falls with Frances Beck, Hildred Fackler and Helen Rantz . . . Mrs. Kathryn McMichael in charge of Richland county aid to dependent children, conferring with a food stamp plan representative.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bellore returning to their home in Detroit after visiting Mrs. A. A. Bellore . . . O. D. Fair's nose healing after he scratched it on the bottom of Liberty park swimming pool . . . Friends of Mrs. Jane Anderson, 102 Glenn avenue, learning of her serious illness.

Police Capt. Tom Bell and Patrolman George Yoakum trying to put a bicycle into the back seat of a cruiser and having trouble making it fit . . . Jake Wagenhals, Michael Hallabrin, and "Duke" Weber cooling off in the Liberty park pool.

* * *

Louis J. Ott, co-host at dinner party at Mansfield-Leland, running around taking care of details while associates Robert Richards, Leonard Jones, Al Krieg and Oliver Henkel sat down and tried to keep cool. . . . Ask Jane Williams about Hottentots.

GETS $60 FINE

Mansfielder Pleads Guilty To Driving While Intoxicated.

Carl Maxwell, 171 Harker street, was fined $60 and costs yesterday in Municipal court after pleading not guilty before Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

Maxwell was arrested Monday night after his car had collided with the rear of another driven by Lloyd J. Clapper, Mansfield, R. D. 5 on South Main street. His license was also revoked for a year.

ASKS FOR MORE POWER IN STATE GOVERNMENTS

Bricker Declares Increase Would Inspire Trust In Institutions.

BOSTON—(U.P.)—Governor John W. Bricker, of Ohio, urged today that the power of state governments be increased as a move "more helpful to the federal program than anything that could come to pass."

Addressing the U. S. conference of governors, on his state's defense effort Bricker said that a "strengthening of the power of the states, and upholding the arm of local government" would also "inspire the people's confidence in the institutions of government."

Sketching Ohio's part in the program, Bricker warned that soaring state revenues would soon begin to decline. He said state governments should "practice the strictest economy in non-defense activities."

State governments, he said, are faced with a double duty, because of the "tremendous needs of money for the federal government."

State government costs should be kept at "the lowest possible point consistent with good public service" but "it is our duty to preserve and perform all of the prerogatives of state and local government."

He said state sales tax revenues in Ohio probably would stop rising soon because of the imposition of priorities and increased federal excises, sales of defense bonds and stamps and the proposed increase in federal income taxes which will "reduce Ohio's individual purchasing power more than $90,000,000 next year."

He said there would be a decrease in liquor revenues due to increased administration costs to combat a revival of bootlegging activitiy and also a proposed additional federal tax of $1 per proof gallon which "will mean that Ohio will have to increase its gross business in 1941 by $6,000,000 . . . to derive the same profit made in 1940."

State inheritance tax revenues also will probably decline he said and "gasless Sundays, if they come, will affect gasoline and liquid fuel taxes."

Should the present increase in revenues continue, the Ohio governor said, there would be no need for greater state and local taxes.

"A continuation of present revenues from state taxes through 1941, however, is something which may not be anticipated with any degree of certainty," he added.

Reviewing Ohio's defense work, Bricker said the state now had about $600,000,000 in defense contracts in addition to important defense projects at Sandusky, Ravenna, Cincinnati, Columbus and Canton.

NEARING GOAL

County's USO Campaign Nets $5,200 With New Donations.

The United Service organization was within $1,300 of its quota today in its compaign to raise $6,500 in Mansfield and Richland county towards a nation-wide goal of $10,765,000.

Today's total reached $5,200 as new contributions, amounting to $1,017 swelled the fund, George H. Smith, campaign chairman, reported.

A gift of $500 from a Mansfield industry will be added to the fund by July 15, according to Smith, who has been notified of the gift by industry officials.

The campaign will continue until July 15 to give factories and potential contributors an opportunity to contribute with the next pay day.

SAYS DEFENSE HITS TEACHERS

Dietrich Urges Redistricting To Meet Curtailed Supply of Instructors.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — A plea for further reorganization of school districts and a warning that the defense program was making startling inroads on the supply of teachers were contained in a biennial report filed today by E. N. Dietrich, state director of education.

"While much has been accomplished in reorganization of school districts," Dietrich told Gov. John W. Bricker, "there is still a great deal to be done. Millions of dollars could be saved to the state if legislation could be secured which would bring about larger units of administration."

Alarm over the supply of teachers was expressed by Harold J. Bowers, supervisor of the division of teacher certification.

"Superintendents report that draft boards deferred 552 teachers until June 1," Bowers said. "They also report that at least 1,000 men will be required to fill teaching positions made vacant by the selective service act by September 1.

"The existing condition made by the selective service act would not be particularly serious except for the fact that the potential supply of college graduates will be proportionately decreased. x x x it seems safe, on the basis of present trends, to predict a serious shortage of teachers."

The report noted a sharp reversal in the employment of men and women teachers in recent years, with 61 per cent of the 1937 instructors being males, and 1940 contracts showing only 28 per cent men.

INFANT DIES

Son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rice Succumbs at Hospital.

Larry Wallace Rice, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rice, 184 Reform street, died of pneumonia early today at Mansfield General hospital. He was born in Mansfield last April 8.

Surviving are his parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Rice and Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Hawk, both of Danville, Ohio.

The body will be taken to Danville today where funeral services will be held Thursday at St. Luke's Catholic church. Burial will be in St. Luke's cemetery there.

FORMER FLOUR SALESMAN WINS TEXAS SENATORIAL ELECTION

(By International News Service)

DALLAS, Tex.—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, former flour salesman who turned to politics in 1938 and has been pulling in votes ever since, today was declared winner by 1,095 votes in the special Texas senatorial election.

Unless an error in the vote count is found, or unless youthful Rep. Lyndon Johnson successfully contests the result, O'Daniel will take the seat vacated by the death of Senator Morris Sheppard in the nation's highest legislative body.

The count of Saturday's election ballots was completed last night, giving O'Daniel 175,368 votes as against 174,273 for Johnson. Johnson had led until the final day of counting, when O'Daniel went into the lead as scattered votes from rural districts were counted.

Attorney General Gerald Mann was third with 140,853 votes, and Rep. Martin Dies was fourth with 80,601. All the candidates were Democrats, and all supported the national defense program. O'Daniel stressed his advocacy of adequate old age pensions, while Johnson claimed administration backing.

Johnson left by plane for Washington, without indicating whether he would contest the result. Both he and Rep. Dies will continue to hold their seats in congress. Lieut. Gov. Coke Stevenson will succeed O'Daniel as governor.

O'Daniel, whose election was for an 18-months' unexpired term, does his campaigning with the aid of a hillbilly band and his own homely radio talks. He added a dramatic stroke on Texas Independence day by appointing 87-year-old Andrew Jackson Houston to succeed Sheppard during the interim.

The appointee, a grandson of Sam Houston, No. 1 Texas hero, served in the senate less than a month before his death in Baltimore last week.

O. K. NEW POST

City Councilmen Authorize Additional Court Clerk.

After three months of consideration, city council last night passed an ordinance authorizing the appointment of a new assistant clerk in the office of Ralph Hughes, municipal court clerk.

Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch requested council for an additional clerk at the April meeting saying that the work on trusteeships and other new acounts in the office had overtaxed the staff.

The new assistant will be paid $90 per month and will assist in civil and criminal cases. The ordinance also provided that one of the clerks be available for duty as court stenographer if needed.

Up and Down THE STREET

Publication of her picture in Life magazine in conection with Mansfield Senior high school commencement has brought Patty Bancroft a sizable sheaf of letters and telegrams from old friends all over the country. One came from Rev. Hayes Braker, former pastor at Park Avenue Baptist church, who chanced to see the picture while vacationing in Miami, Fla. Another came from a Texas midshipman at Annapolis, unknown to Patty, who was inspired to write, he said, because he "never knew a Yankee before."

Without ceremonies, workmen raised a 55-foot flag pole this morning at the northwest corner of the courthouse lawn, making it certain that a flag will wave at the courthouse corner on the Fourth of July. County commissioners ordered the pole and have an eight-by-twelve-foot flag ready to hoist as soon as the pole is ready. Commissioners said the American Legion probably will have charge of dedication ceremonies for the pole some time after the July 4 holiday.

The center of interest at the courthouse today was a trained police dog of the "Seeing-eye" variety which lay in the main foyer while his master visited Jimmy Lemley at his confection stand. The dog, which made friends with anyone who patted him, was trained in Cincinnati and has been leading Larry Gilkison of Cincinnati, his owner, about over the state for more than two years. The dog was equipped with the regulation "Seeing-eye" harness with a metal hand grip for Gilkison to hold onto as the dog walks ahead of him.

U. S. TO FREE BIG MACHINERY ORDER AT ONCE

AMTORG Reported Ready To Spend $100,000,000 For Equipment.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The Soviet government, it was learned today, is anxious to purchase upwards of $100,000,000 worth of American materials to bulwark its defense industries.

At the same time federal agencies studying a Russian request to place orders for materials in the United States, indicated the American government will release more than $10,000,000 worth of machinery to the Soviet immediate.

The Soviet appeal for materials, made by Russian Ambassador Constantine Oumansky, was promptly referred to the OPM and other defense agencies by acting secretary of state, Sumner Welles.

In these quarters it is reported that Amtorg, the official Soviet trading organization, is prepared to spend $100,000,000 or more for implements, electrical devices, oil products and other machine tools.

Losing no time to translate into action the American government's promise to aid the Soviet, officials of the OPM, army, navy and other agencies favored immediate release of $10,000,000 worth of machinery purchased by Russia some time ago. This machinery, including oil drilling apparatus, was held up by American officials under the export control system and has been lying in storage at various west coast warehouses.

The release of this machinery is expected to be the first concrete help extended to Russia by the United States.

Just how much additional equipment Russia will be able to obtain in this country depends on studies now underway by American defense experts.

It appears certain that the Soviet will be able to buy only limited quantities of machine tools because the United States hardly has enough to operate its own defense industries.

Nevertheless, defense officials reported that some types of tools and machinery probably would be sold to Russia. There may also be shipments of petroleum products. Russia also wants to buy copper, but here again the shortage will keep allocations to the Soviet at limited amounts.

In announcing Oumansky's request for American materials, Welles said Soviet orders would be paid for and that there had been no plea for help under the lease-lend program. Russia is reported to be well supplied with funds and has nearly $50,000,000 of assets in the United States at present.

Welles also explained that the Soviet government proposes to transport the materials aboard its own ships. At present, there are nearly a dozen Russian vessels in American ports.

Medical Exams to Be Given 325 at Clinic for County

Medical examinations will be available without cost to approximately 325 people coming within the supervision of the Richland county office of aid to dependent children, next Wednesday and Thursday, according to Mrs. Kathryn McMichael, county executive.

This will be the second clinic made possible by the medical fund of the department and will be held at Mansfield General hospital on both days between 8 a. m. and 12 noon. The first clinic was held two years ago.

Physicians and nurses are donating their services and arrangements are now being made to furnish transportation to persons in all parts of the county having no means of reaching the clinic. Dr. Mabel Emery is in charge of transportation.

Complete physical check-ups including eye and dental examinations will be given at the clinic and as much corrective work as finances permit will be done for the children, according to Mrs. McMichael.

Fremont Wins First-Half Title as Braves Down Hens

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Death of Ollie Pecord, the old Toledo fight referee who was the third man in the ring when Jack Dempsey lifted Jess Willard's heavyweight crown at Toledo, recalls to this old timer the one and only time he ever saw Ollie in his fistic specialty.

It was on the night of Nov. 14, 1923 (my, my what a memory) that this youngster, then sport editor of the old Mansfield News, together with several Mansfield fight fans, piled into Red Arnold's taxi and set sail for Kenton to see Al Dundee and Marty Horvath go to the wars against some select opposition.

Dundee was to meet a boy from Toledo in the main bout and Marty was to tangle for the second time with Silent Chavez of Akron, whom he'd kayoed in five rounds several months before.

But Dundee's opponent failed to show up, and Silent Chavez was not only silent but entirely invisible. He also failed to show.

The fight was booked, the fans were there,
The scared promoters tore their hair,
"What shall we do?" they wildly cried,
"These fistic bugs will have our hide."

The promoters were in a dilemma for sure. Their card had fallen apart and there was a fair gathering of the fan flock on hand.

So Dundee and Don Baxter, Lima bantam then fighting under Johnny Newton's booking, were scheduled for an exhibition, and Jakie Gross of Lima put on an exhibition with someone or other, but, "we've got to have something that looks like a fight," the promoters declared.

"Who can we get to go on with Marty Horvath?"

They cast the eye around and discovered a pair of cauliflower ears belonging to Dundee's brother, Mike Bower, who had picked up the scrambled ears in years of carnival wrestling but who laid no claims to being a fighter.

"How about you?" they said to Mike, "You look like a fighter anyhow."

Says Mike, "I'll have to take a dive,
It's the only way to stay alive."

Now Mike hadn't been in training for years, and he knew he couldn't shadow-box for more than two or three heats and look good.

So, says Mike to Marty, "Hit me early Marty, and make it look good. I don't care if I do get knocked out." And then, "Who's got a jug? I gotta get in training for this."

After half-a-dozen tugs at Old John, Mike climbed into a pair of ring togs and declared himself in shape to go.

And there, in white ducks and all, was Ollie Pecord, Ohio's greatest referee of that day, acting as third man in the ring and very serious about the whole thing.

Mike got out and he huffed and he puffed, and he flailed away leaving his chin wide open for one of Marty's best Sunday haymakers. But Marty held back, not caring to clout his Mansfield buddy.

The first round went by, and the second was going right along, and Mike could hardly stand up any more, and in a clinch Mike tells Marty, "Hit me quick or I'm going down anyhow."

Swish! There's a swing, and down goes Mike in a very comfortable position to listen to the count of ten from Mr. Pecord.

* * *

Everyone liked it but Ollie. Eyes ablaze with righteous indignation, Ollie came over to the first row ringside and told us: "That man should be barred from the ring for life. He went down without being hit."

"That's okay by me," said Mike. "I don't want any more of that stuff, ever."

Stormy Runs Into Long Rest

Weatherly Suspended and Fined By Peck.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Roy (Stormy) Weatherly, who used to get thrown out of ball games for arguing with umpires, is off the payroll of the Cleveland Indians today, under indefinite suspension.

The reason, said Manager Roger Peckinpaugh, is that Roy has not been "hustling as he should."

The 26-year-old center fielder, who was the leading Cleveland batter last season with a .303 average, can be reinstated "when he comes to me and convinces me that he's ready to quit sulking and play ball," said Peckinpaugh.

Weatherly had been fined $25 for failing to run out two fly balls in last Sunday's game with Chicago.

Last night in St. Louis before the Indians won from the Browns, 10 to 6, thereby ending their three-game losing streak, the manager went in the clubhouse and asked him when he was going to get over his "mad."

"I told him he hadn't been hustling and that other members of the team had been talking about it," Peckinpaugh later related. "I said that sort of thing couldn't continue and unless he showed me a beter spirit there would be some other fines or a suspension.

"His answer was, 'If that's the way you feel about it you'd better suspend me now.' So I told him to take off his uniform and get ready to go home. He cursed me and I told him that would cost him some more money."

* * *

Weatherly was a holdout during about half the spring training season, and the manager and several players have contended he had failed to "hustle" all season. At .290 he is fourth in the current Cleveland batting averages.

The American league office on several occasions has fined the outfielder for rowing with umpires. Last year the club awarded him a $250 bonus for finishing out the season without being thrown out of a game.

The Yankee streak that you probably haven't heard anything about is a five-game winning streak—and it may turn out to be more important than Joe DiMaggio's sensational string of hits or the club's chain of home runs.

The New York Bombers are raiding the strong and the weak alike these days. Their double victory, 7-2 and 9-2, over the rugged Boston Red Sox yesterday gave them a record of nine wins in their past 10 games and increased their American league lead in spite of the fact that the Cleveland Indians won last night at St. Louis.

DiMaggio, whose hitting streak has captured the fancy of fans to such an extent that a crowd of 52,832 turned out at Yankee stadium for what otherwise would have been a drab mid-week double-header, lived up to everyone's hope.

* * *

He made two hits in the opener and one in the five-inning nightcap to tie Willie Keeler's all-time major league record of hitting in 44 consecutive contests in 1897.

Takes Crown From Scalzo

Lemos Wins Feather Title With K. O.

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — There was gay music in the cantinas and unrestrained joy in Little Mexico today. Little Mexico after years of dreams and wasted hope, has a world champion fighter.

Young Richard Lemos, born within the shadow of the Old Mission in the heart of Los Angeles, won the National Boxing association featherweight title last night with a spectacular five-round knockout over Petey Scalzo of New York.

For four rounds the two fought on even terms. Then, as the fifth started, Lemos, something of an oddity because he is a switch-hitter, shifted to southpaw style and proceeded to wreck the game little casterner.

Lemos crowded Scalzo into the New Yorker's own corner and winged him with that TNT-loaded left swing. For fully a minute he kept Petey hemmed in. Referee Benny Whitman finally stepped in and separated them. Lemos rushed Scalzo across the opposite ropes and let fly with a left haymaker.

Scalzo dropped for a 9-count. He was in distress when he reached his feet. His jaw was wide open. One more left started. It hit its target, the Scalzo jaw. Petey pitched over sidewise, landing almost head down on the canvas. At 9 he made a feeble effort to rise. But he couldn't. Manager Pete Reilly and his seconds carried him to his corner. The round was 2 minutes and 22 seconds old.

The Tribe tore into the St. Louis Browns for a 10-6 triumph, with Hal Trosky and Pitcher Al Milnar home runs and Jeff Heath having a perfect turn at bat with four hits.

The Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Washington Senators, 10-1, with a 16-hit offensive and four-hit hurling by Rookie Phil Marchildon.

The St. Louis Cardinals gained exclusive possession of first place in the National league again by plastering an 11-7 defeat on the Pittsburgh Pirates with a 17-hit assault led by John Mize and Johnny Hopp, each with four hits.

The Brooklyn Dodgers dropped a 6-4 decision to the Phillies when Stan Benjamin singled with the bases loaded in the tenth. This was the first time in 11 games this season the tail-enders had licked the Dodgers, who played like they were caught off guard.

The downtrodden Boston Braves came through with a 6-4 victory over the New York Giants in the only other National league game.

Zivic-Davis Go Rained Out

Bout Scheduled For Tonight By Jacobs.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Kept apart last night by a shower which passed hurriedly through the Bronx just before dark and gave Promoter Mike Jacobs a bad fright, Welterweight Champion Fritzie Zivic and Bummy Davis, the soldier boy, will try again tonight to put on their 12-round non-title fight at the Polo grounds.

Not enough rain fell last evening to wet anybody, but the threatening weather of the afternoon apparently kept the customers away from the ticket windows, and Uncle Mike jumped at the chance to postpone the bout. He hoped it was only the weather which had discouraged the crowd.

* * *

The higher-priced pasteboards hadn't been selling at all well. If the bout had gone on as planed, only about 20,000 spectators would have been there and the gate wouldn't have passed $100,000. There still isn't much chance for the two battlers to weigh in again. At yesterday's ceremonies Zivic scaled 149¼ to Davis' 148, it having been agreed that Davis would come in over the welterweight limit of 147 pounds.

Bob Kuzava Whiffs 13 Tiffin Mud Hens

Mansfield Gets To Bayliss Early For Deciding Runs; Reinka Hits

LEFTY BOB KUZAVA, sometimes called Irish for no apparent reason, two-fingered his way to a 4 to 2 decision over the Tiffin Mud Hens at the Fairground last night thereby putting the Mansfield Braves back in the running for second place in the Ohio State league, and handing the Fremont Green Sox the first half title on a silver platter.

Lefty Bob was twirling for the edification of his parents who were sitting in the box seats next to the press coop, and at the same time he was showing Hurler Jim Coleman's brother and mother, in the very next box, how a hook can look when delivered from the port side.

High school rookie Robert, from Flint, Mich., edged the veteran Don Bayliss in a whiffing duel, fanning 13 of the Hens while Bayliss was setting down 12 Braves by te strikeout route.

He had the edge in other departments also as his turn to the right breezed down past the astonished eyes of the Hen hitters. Bob allowed but five hits and gave two passes, while hitting one Tiffin batter, and Bayliss gave up nine hits, walked three, and hit one hitsmith.

Two of the blows off Bayliss were of the flukey variety at that. In the seventh Bill Reinka poked a fly to center field which "Daniel" Boone misjudged, and in the eighth Graf Moore lifted a towering fly 10 feet in front of the play on which Catcher Bill Campau and Third Sacker Weigel played an Alphonse and Gaston act.

Meanwhile Fremont was clinching the first-half flag with a double win over Fostoria, 6 to 1 and 14 to 8, and Lima protected its fifth place spot with two wins over Findlay, 7 to 6 and 12 to 11.

* * *

The Braves got away to a flying start with two runs in the first frame on singles by Bob Ankrum, Reinka and Harry Siegbert and added the winning marker in the second when Freddie Wolpert led off with a double, went to third on a wild pitch and tallied on Ankrum's fly to right.

They added their fourth marker in the sixth as Siegbert drew a walk, leading off, and went around on singles by Graf Moore and Skipper Clowson.

Bill Reinka, new addition of the Braves, was moved up in the second spot in the batting order when Dick Morse was called home because of the serious illness of his mother, and celebrated the promotion by collecting three for four on two doubles and a single.

The Braves made their last appearance of the first half season at the home yard, and will not be back until Saturday night when they tangle with the Lima Pandas in a second half tilt.

Tonight they go to Tiffin for their final first half game, as they can tie the Hens for second place by winning this fracas. Tomorrow is an open date and they open the second half at Lima on the Fourth of July.

Plans for a second game on the holiday at Galion fell through today when Findlay was forced to cancel because of Fostoria's booking of Al Schacht for a night game. Findlay had been scheduled for an afternoon game at Fostoria and planned to meet the Braves at night at Galion.

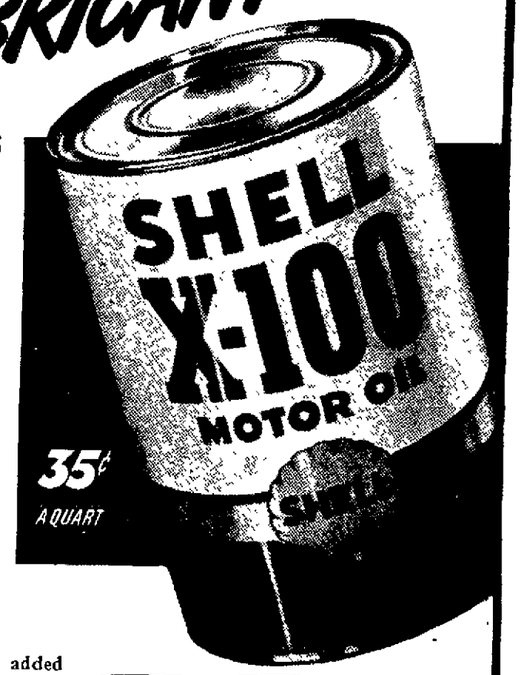
MANSFIELD swings to NEW SUPER LUBRICANT

"X" safety factors give extra protection at sustained high speeds

Faster cars and faster driving for long periods intensify the punishment motor oil must take today.

Recent test runs, totaling 5,000,000 miles, prove that "X" safety factors in Shell X-100 make this new super lubricant safety insurance for your motor under these new driving conditions.



SLUDGE — Shell X-100 has added "X" factors; retards sludge formation.

VARNISH — Shell X-100 resists high engine heat and the formation of "varnish" or "lacquer."

RING STICKING — Shell X-100 resists ring sticking due to carbon accumulations.

CORROSION — Shell X-100 resists deterioration; does not form corrosive acids.

After New Record

Lefty Grove Attempts To Halt DiMaggio Streak.

NEW YORK —(INS)— It was Lefty Mose Grove, the dour, 41-year-old fireballer, against the New York Yankees, Joe DiMaggio and the baseball history books today.

Seeking his paltry sixth win of the season for the Boston Red Sox, the aging southpaw at the same time assumed the burden of preventing DiMaggio from breaking the all-time consecutive game hitting record, which he tied yesterday when in the Red Sox double-header he maintained his streak to a total of 44. Old Mose wouldn't get into any halls of fame strictly on the basis of halting that string, nor would he be hailed exactly as a hero around here, but it would be a notable achievement nonetheless, if Manager Cronin sticks to his plan to use Old Mose.

Ever since May 15 nearly every pitcher in the American league, including Grove, has tried at one time or another to cut the Yankee clipper down on each appearance at the plate throughout the game, and all have failed, right-handers and southpaws, young ones and old ones, they've been nicked sooner or later.

However, there may be an omen in Grove's appearance against Dimaggio today, for it was a southpaw, Frank Killen, who ended the streak of the original record-marker. Wee Willie Keeler, in 1897. It could be a southpaw who will turn the trick again and forestall possibly for many, many years anyone going more than 44 games in a row without getting at least one hit.

"Who's record do I go after next?"

The reply was to the effect that if he manages to break this one he might then try to keep the streak going long enough to top his own run of 61 straight set back in the Pacific Coast league shortly before he came to the Yankees.

* * *

"Yes, I might as well go after that one," he said, but he added quickly that this streak no longer is vitally important to him. He confessed that he was pressing in Washington last Sunday when he broke George Sisler's modern standard of 41 straight, but said the heat is off now and he's in there going along to do the best he can, a little disappointed over his batting average, which through yesterday's double header stood at .351.

* * *

He would prefer to be hitting up around .420 as Sisler did during his streak, or .408, Keller's pace during his record string or at, say, even .401 as Ted Williams of the Red Sox is doing now.

However, DiMaggio quite frankly thinks that his record is better than Keller's in view of the fact that fouls were not strikes in the early days of the game.

In achieving his tie with Keller yesterday, he made two hits off Boston's Mike Ryba in the first game and one off Jack Wilson in the second, which was cut to five innings and thus lifted his batting average for the streak itself to .379.

Meantime, the Yankees finally ended their home run record string in the first game when they failed to get a circuit clout after having connected for 40 of them in 25 starts.

It could be that they have started a new one, for Bill Dickey connected in the nightcap, but that isn't important for the time being Today, it was strictly a matter between Dimaggio and Grove.

Betty Co-ed Golfers In Quarterfinals

COLUMBUS, O.—(AP)—Betty co-eds from seven schools, survivors of first round matches, meet today in quarter-final play in the first women's national intercollegiate golf championship, with the quartet of winners meeting in the semi-finals late this afternoon.

* * *

Heading the list was Marjorie (Schoolgirl) Row of Detroit, sophomore at Michigan State university, who is six under par for 31 holes of tournament play. However, Eleanor Dudley, the University of Alabama student from Chicago, also had a host of backers.

Both won their opening starts in convincing fashion, Miss Row smacking Dorothy Hicks of Western Reserve by 6 and 4, and Miss Dudley tacking a 5 and 4 setback on Deborah Morgan of Michigan State. Each winner was one under par for the holes necessary to close out the match.

* * *

Today Miss Row was to meet Betty Mackemer of Rollins, who eliminated Marjorie Wendel of Skidmore by 4 and 3, while Miss Dudley collided with Martha Dakin of Miami University, 4 and 3 victor over Mary Jane Wilson of Bouve school of Boston.

The finals are scheduled Thursday, over 18 holes.

SUPPLIES DROP NO-HIT, NO-RUN TILT

The Athletic Supplies dropped a 6-0 tilt to the Ashland Faultless Rubbers at Brookside park last night.

Joe Tours Possum In One Over Old Record.

Joe Mayer plowed around the inside nine at Possum Run last evening in 32 blows, just one over the course record and four strokes under par to show News-Journal A-league golfers just how the game should be played.

Meanwhile Vin Tipul and Al Hager struggled through five extra holes before reaching a decision which went to the young high school star, Hager. For the first nine Al had a 34 and Tipul a 35, both thumbing the schnozzle at the par 36 for which the course was laid out.

Grant Hanawalt also came in with a 34, as did Gene Zediker, while Pete Linster and Johnny Carr checked in with 35's. Right on the par dot of 36 was Carl Wiseman.

Long Bar and Barnes & Schmid were tied for first place in the league after all the shooting as each team took 3 and 2 victories.

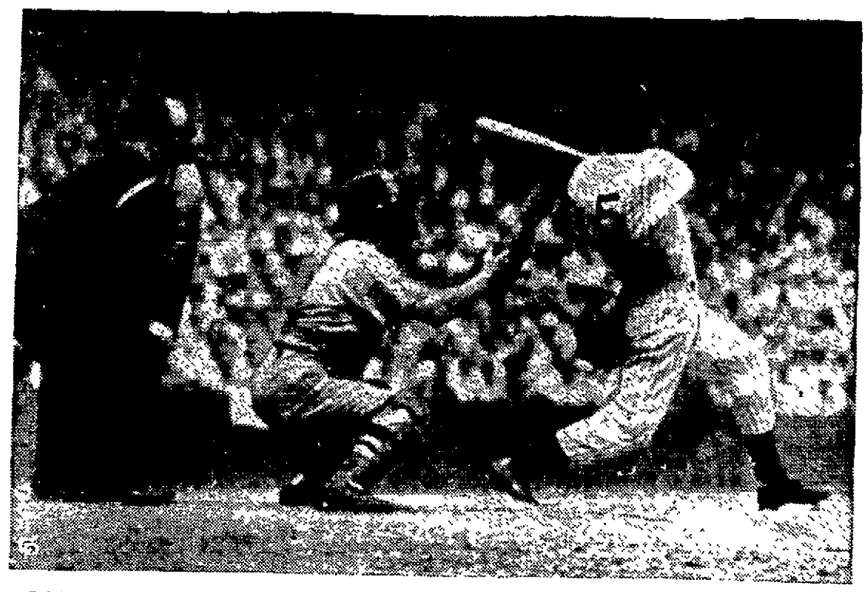
Ties Keller's All-Time Record



Jolting Joe DiMaggio, ace Yankee outfielder, clouts a single in the second game of a double-header with the Boston Red Sox in New York to run his hitting streak to 44 straight games, tying the major league record set by Willie Keeler in 1897. Catcher Peacock of the Sox and Umpire Rue watch Joe make the record-tying hit.

SPORTS GOSSIP

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service)—Eighty per cent of the telephone calls to the sports department of a Pittsburgh newspaper the other night concerned Joe DiMaggio's hitting streak . . . The Dodgers have had five players beaned since the start of last season and if that isn't a modern record for one club, sue us . . . Did you know that Willie Keeler, whose consecutive hitting streak Joe DiMaggio equalled yesterday, once beat out five infield hits in one game, all of them to short? . . . Don McNeill has the G-man bug and may hang up his racquet at the end of this season—if he can get a job . . . Chick Meehan, the new Ebbets Field fight promoter, has joined in the chorus and is blasting the boxing monopoly. Well, many have blasted, but the monopoly keeps right on monopolizing.

FREDDIE POPE HELD TO DRAW BY BROWN

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Freddie Pope, flashy, undefeated Columbus boxer, still is the eighth ranking bantamweight in the nation today, but his string of 41 consecutive victories is broken.

Cleveland Brown, 120-pound Dayton, O., orphan, slugged his way to a 10-round draw with the former amateur champ here last night. Pope, who already owned a decision over Brown, met the Daytonian under threat of suspension by the Columbus boxing commission, which accused him of "running out" on an earlier engagement with Brown.

Everyone wants longer mileage — here's a suggestion!

Keep a sharp eye on your tires! They'll fool you — tires that hardly look under-inflated to the naked eye can be robbing you of gasoline.

Tests show you may save as much as 7% of your gasoline by proper inflation. Unless your tires are checked regularly, you are not enjoying the best mileage from any gasoline.

SOHIO service not only will watch your tires for you but SOHIO X-70 gasoline will give you mileage that SOHIO X-70 users say just can't be beat. Try this combination—and help reduce gasoline waste!

More-miles-per-gallon means more gallons for defense.

WHY X-70 IS A LONG-MILEAGE GAS:

1 24 improvements since 1935 keep X-70 Ohio's leading economy gasoline.

2 285,000 tests a year by Standard Oil engineers constantly maintain X-70's leadership.

Rifle Matches Held at Perry

Appropriation of Funds Shifts Meet Again.

By FRITZ HOWELL

CAMP PERRY, O. — (AP) — The historic national rifle matches, shifted several weeks ago from this Ohio National Guard encampment because of the national emergency, were rescheduled today for the Camp Perry range following appropriation of necessary funds by congress.

The National Rifle association, which had booked the 1941 Small Bore Rifle competition for the Mt. Gilead range of the Ohio Rifle and Pistol association and awarded the pistol events to the L. A. Young range in Detroit, anounced that the changes were "out" and that the guns would blaze here.

The 30-Caliber rifle matches are washed out for the year, but the pistol and small-bore events definitely are on, W. F. Shadel of Washington, public relations chief for the rifle association, said.

Electrically operated targets for all events will be shifted from their present site north of the Erie ordnance depot, where big guns are being tested, to the 200 and 300-yard .30 caliber ranges in the center of the camp.

Instead of taking up three full weeks as in the past, the matches will run from Aug. 31 to Sept. 7, with the first three days offering a small arms firing school, and the remainder the actual competition.

Funds made available by congress, Shadel said, would permit payment of range personnel, expenses for many of the shooters, and other incidental costs including reconstruction of the range. Expenses of two high scorers in each of the master, expert, sharpshooter and marksman classes in regional shoots will be paid to Perry, but no shooter who has received such help in the past will be eligible this year in the same class or a lower one.

Shadel said that competitors would be housed on the Camp Perry grounds, as in the past, and that dining facilities also would be provided here. With the 30-caliber marksmen not competing, the pistol and small-bore fields are expected to total about 1200 shooters from every state in the union.

Millers Get Jump In "Crucial" Series

(By Associated Press)

It's beginning to look as though Kansas City faces an extremely tough job in trying to take first place in the American Association away from those hard hitting Minneapolis Millers.

The teams opened another of their "crucial" series last night and again it was Minneapolis which got the jump, defeating the Blues, 10 to 2, behind the six-hit pitching of Mickey Haefner.

* * *

Toledo nosed out Louisville, 5 to 4, to even the series at one-all. Glenn McQuillen's homer in the eighth inning decided the battle, which was marked by disorder in the stands. Manager Fred Haney of Toledo protested after Hash hit Hank Steinbacher on the head. Hash was put out of the game, but the argument was resumed in the mnth. Manager Bill Burwell of Louisville protested a decision and bottles and cushions started flying from the stands.

The usually weak-hitting Indianapolis club came up with a 14-hit offense to beat Columbus, 11 to 8, and St. Paul defeated Milwaukee, 5 to 2.

Grand Circuit Meet In Second Day

TOLEDO, O.—(AP)—The annual Toledo Grand Circuit meeting moved in to its second full day of racing today with fans still talking about the convincing victory of Bell Boy in the featured $1 482 matron stake for three-year-old pacers last night.

Second fastest harness horse in history as a two-year-old Bell Boy scored a straight-heat triumph in the featured event. Veteran Reinsman Vic Fleming brought Bell Boy home in a driving finish in both heats, winning the first in 2:04 and the second in 2:05.

Fleming registered another heat victory during the eight-race program, piloting Merry Bars to the front in the 14 pace class. Bob Plaxico of Canton, Ohio's leading reinsman last year, scored a double victory. He took the :8 pace class with Miss Budlong, and the three-year-old pace with Jerry M.

Fourth Annual Tourney Opens

PIQUA, O.—(U.P.)—With the entry list studded with net stars from three states, the Fourth Annual Western Ohio tennis tournament opens here tomorrow with the first-round matches in the junior and men's singles.

* * *

Charles Samson of Waverly, O., singles runner-up in the state High school tournament, has entered the meet.

Ray Brownell Leads Western Amateur

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—(U.P.)—Ray Brownell of Stanford university, led the smallest western amateur field in 24 years into the final 18-hole qualifying round today.

He fired an even par 70 yesterday over the mountain-cradled Broadmoor course.

The low 32 qualifiers at the end of today's second 18-hole round will begin match play tomorrow.

HUGE BACKLOGS OF ORDERS HIT RECORD PEAK

Shortage of Raw Materials Causes Unfilled Orders To Pile Up Rapidly.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Unfilled orders in many lines of business have advanced to record peaks even though industrial activity in the fourth district moved rapidly into new high territory, the federal reserve bank of Cleveland reported today.

The bank, which each month surveys business conditions in the area covering Ohio, western Pennsylvania, eastern Kentucky and the West Virginia Panhandle, asserted:

"Activity in many fields is governed by ability or inability to obtain materials. How much the situation is aggravated by the adoption of what would be considered very unsound purchasing policies under more normal conditions on the part of some is unknown.

"There are cases reported where concerns, in an effort to acquire more materials, place orders with two or three suppliers, and state that failure to obtain merchandise would result in shutdowns. Continuation of operations after an order is refused indicates either effective substitution or larger than reported stocks of the materials that were being sought.

"With all developments pointing to a rapid shifting from non-defense to defense activity, there has been considerable ordering of items, the supply of which is likely to be sharply reduced. Increased employment and payrolls and expanding use of installment credit have contributed to this trend."

The bank noted "many new automobiles have been purchased this year that otherwise would not have been bought because of the general feeling that prices and taxes would be higher."

Similar situations are evident in other lines such as tires and household equipment and outstanding orders of department stores in the area were 137 per cent larger on May 31 than a year previous, "despite the fact that stocks are greater than in more than two years."

As of May 31, the adjusted index of department store inventories was the highest since November, 1938, and up 11 per cent over last year. Retail prices of department store goods were up for the seventh consecutive month, and had increased four per cent from a year ago.

Bank debits—which record flow of money through checking account transactions—were up 27.5 per cent over last year in the five weeks ended June 18. Compared with a year ago, commerical loans were up 46 per cent, compared with 32 per cent for the nation. The bank said this showed concerns had used up cash balances to accumulate larger inventories and pay for goods in process of production, making it necessary to resort to banks for working capital loans.

Tops Richtofen

The German high command has announced that Major Werner Moelders, top, squadron commander, has downed his 82nd enemy plane thus topping the record set by the late Baron Manfred von Richtofen, famed "Red Knight of Germany" and leading ace of World war I. Richtofen was also a squadron commander, his flight becoming famous as the dreaded "Flying Circus."

Women See Defense Program As Chance to Fatten Budget

(Editor's Note:—Building up a nation's defense calls for trained workers—women as well as men. Women today are punching time clocks in the defense factories, their dextrous fingers, sharp eyes and feminine patience for detail making them superior in many tasks. They want to do more—and the opportunities being opened to them are discussed in this article, one of a series dealing with the American woman's role in the rapidly expanding defense program.)

By JANE COCHRAN

(INS Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—Dangling in front of the eyes of the American woman today is the alluring picture of the weekly pay envelope. Best of all, it's a pay envelope marking as much value to the defense effort as it does to the home budget.

Housewives see the nation's defense program as a chance to fatten the family's budget; high school graduates are flocking to factory employment offices; long-idle trained women workers expect to return to industry in defense jobs.

Their hopes are borne out by the trend showing up in reports to the training division of the office of production management's labor division. Thousands of women are flocking to factory jobs, indicating the beginning of mass use of women in industry.

But a warning comes from Mary Anderson, dean of all federal women office-holders, and head of the women's bureau of the department of labor.

"Women are kidding themselves when they think that jobs are theirs for the taking," she said. "It's only in certain communities that defense industries exist. Some are taking on new employes by thousands—others haven't gotten past the concrete-pouring stage or they're just starting to spread out.

"Don't forget. Many firms will not hire women until the labor supply of men is used up."

Miss Anderson indicated wishful thinking, based on the belief that war work and work for women go hand in hand, might send women to the factory gates. Once at the gates, they might be sent back to their dishwashing.

Differences of opinion are not unusual in the picture of women's role in industry. Some economists are covinced plenty of men are available—recruiting of women by industry is unnecessary.

On the opposite side of the fence is the demand that women be thrown into industry to speed defense. If shooting begins — and there's no disagreement here—women by the millions will be punching the defense time clocks to relieve men for service.

OPM's belief that mass employment of women is getting underway was reported by pretty, blonde Thelma McKelvey. As special assistant in the labor supply branch of the labor division of OPM, she's in touch with the changing labor picture.

"Reservoirs of man power are nearly exhausted in several states —Connecticut for example," she said. They're beginning to experiment with large-scale employment of women.

This means changes, big ones, often. Simplification of operations. Changes in the plant to safeguard the health and physical safety of the women.

Mary Anderson's bureau has the figures to show that half the 6,000 employes in a shell loading plant in Ravenna, Ohio, will be women. Not, in the least unusual, she says. That women work in aircraft operations, in inspection of delicate gun parts — wherever dexterous fingers, sharp eyes, and feminine patience cannot be duplicated by men.

"Women will do all kinds of work, they're doing it now, and there's no question but what they are capable of shouldering the responsibilities," she said.

Ladies, if you want a job, here's what to do, outlined by Thelma McKelvey.

Register with the government employment offices you'll find in key cities. As soon as there's the space for you to fill, you'll be directed to one of the 1,300 vocational schools that give government-sponsored training in more than a thousand cities. From then on, it's work in defense, if you're good.

Even without the training, you may be sent to jobs where you'll learn as you work. But register your desire to work if the defense factory is your goal.

STATE COMBATS TUBERCULOSIS

Minnesota Medical Association Will Attempt To Free State of Disease By 1960.

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(U.P.)—An experiment perfected by veterinarians will be used by the Minnesota Medical Association in an attempt to free the state of tuberculosis by 1960.

Dr. B. S. Adams, medical association president, announces that the project wil be started soon in Meeker county in western Minnesota.

"Through a modification of the method used by veterinarians to eradicate tuberculosis among cattle, we are going to try first to eliminate the disease in that county and then make the project state-wide," he said.

Adams said the association's present plan was to give tuberculin tests repeatedly and systematically to every resident of the county to detect and trace any infections.

Every individual reacting positively to the test will be examined by X-ray to determine if the disease is active and the posibilities of transmission, Dr. Adams said.

All found infected will be asked to take the proper medical treatment.

Meeker county was selected for the experiment because the state's first county-wide tuberculin testing of cattle was made there in 1923. The compulsory testing program succeeded and Meeker became the first county in the nation to free its cattle herds of tuberculosis.

The medical association will pay the administrative expense of the project. The state board of health has agreed to cooperate with the association Private and public welfare organizations have been asked to assist in the work.

TO BE FREE FROM RENT

Is every woman's dream of happiness. How can you get ahead when so much of the pay check goes in rent? Every day we are selling lots to people who know they will never get free of this rent burden unless they take advantage of our remarkable terms of $1 Down and then only 50c a week for large level lots in Lincoln Fields, adjoining Lincoln Heights. Lots are 50 by 150 and priced from $124 to $179. Large double lots on county roads are higher in price. We pay the taxes for one year and charge no interest for two years. You may start to build as soon as you pay your dollar down. Every lot is restricted so as insure a respectable neighborhood. Salesman on the ground all day and evening until dark. Take Ashland Road, Highway 42 to Pennsylvania St. or Lorain St. and then a short block north. You can't miss it. Come Sunday if you can't come before. N. P. Dodge, Corp., Owner.

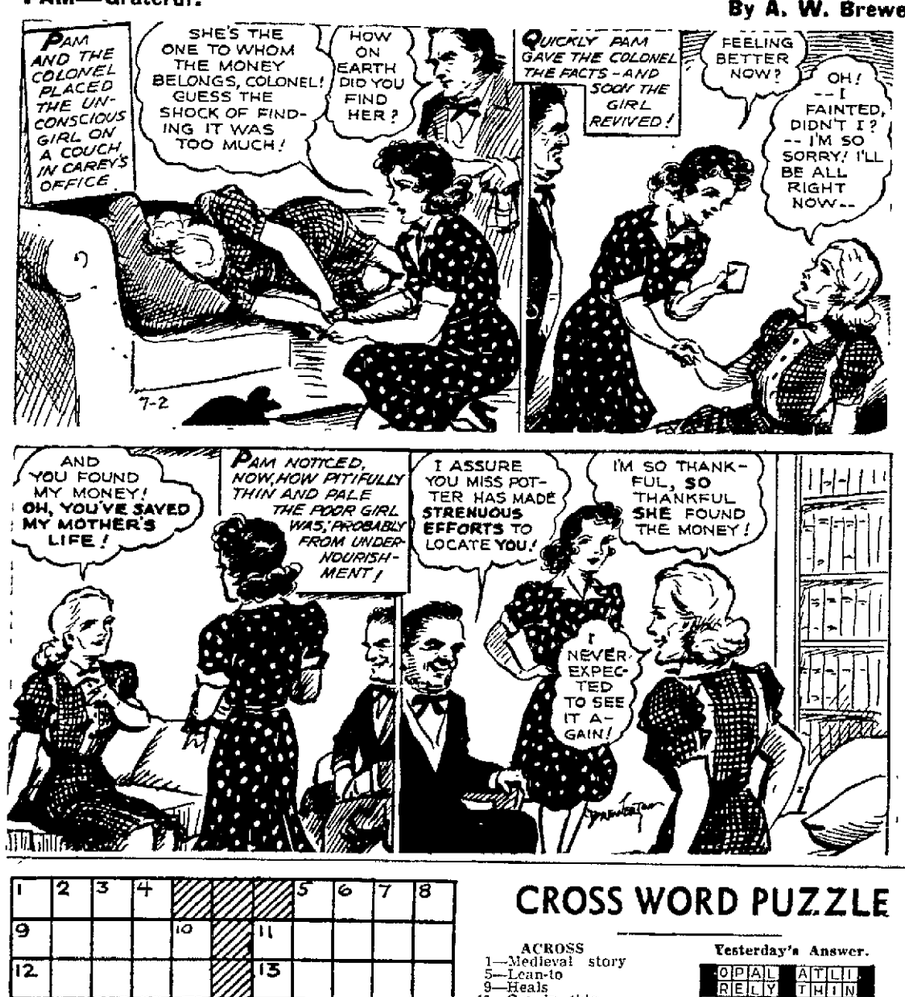
POPEYE—Can the Mother Complex, Lady!

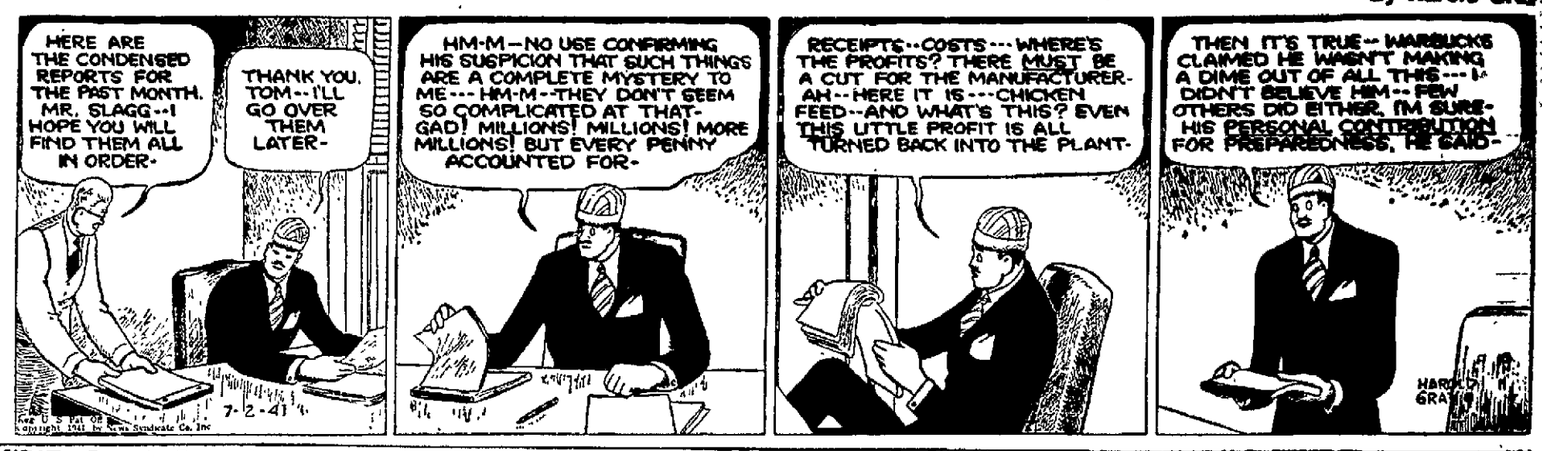
AHOY, MRS. JONES, IS YER HUSBING HOME YET?
NO, BUT DINNER IS READY, WE WON'T WAIT
GO WASH YOUR FACE AND HANDS, AND DON'T FORGET YOUR EARS
OKAY
SHE HAD A LITTLE BOY SIX YEARS OLD. SHE TREATS ME LIKE I'M HIM
ARF ARF
SHE DOES NOT KNOW I YAM HERE TO TAKE AWAY HER HUSBING
IT WILL MAKE HER SAD
WO'NER WHAT B'CAME OF HER LITTLE BOY?
I HATES TO HURT HER
POOEY! THIS IS NOT A TIME FOR SEDIMENTAL IDEARS!

PAM—Grateful! By A. W. Brewerton



PAM AND THE COLONEL PLACED THE UNCONSCIOUS GIRL ON A COUCH IN CAREY'S OFFICE
SHE'S THE ONE TO WHOM THE MONEY BELONGS, COLONEL! GUESS THE SHOCK OF FINDING IT WAS TOO MUCH!
HOW ON EARTH DID YOU FIND HER?
7-2
QUICKLY PAM GAVE THE COLONEL THE FACTS—AND SOON THE GIRL REVIVED!
FEELING BETTER NOW?
OH! —I FAINTED, DIDN'T I? —I'M SO SORRY! I'LL BE ALL RIGHT NOW—
AND YOU FOUND MY MONEY! OH, YOU'VE SAVED MY MOTHER'S LIFE!
PAM NOTICED, NOW, HOW PITIFULLY THIN AND PALE THE POOR GIRL WAS, PROBABLY FROM UNDERNOURISHMENT!
I ASSURE YOU MISS POTTER HAS MADE STRENUOUS EFFORTS TO LOCATE YOU!
I'M SO THANKFUL, SO THANKFUL SHE FOUND THE MONEY!
I NEVER EXPECTED TO SEE IT AGAIN!

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Proof Reader By Harold Gray



HERE ARE THE CONDENSED REPORTS FOR THE PAST MONTH, MR. SLAGG—I HOPE YOU WILL FIND THEM ALL IN ORDER-
THANK YOU, TOM—I'LL GO OVER THEM LATER-
7-2-41
HM-M—NO USE CONFIRMING HIS SUSPICION THAT SUCH THINGS ARE A COMPLETE MYSTERY TO ME—HM-M—THEY DON'T SEEM SO COMPLICATED AT THAT-GAD! MILLIONS! MILLIONS! MORE MILLIONS! BUT EVERY PENNY ACCOUNTED FOR-
RECEIPTS—COSTS—WHERE'S THE PROFITS? THERE MUST BE A CUT FOR THE MANUFACTURER-AH—HERE IT IS—CHICKEN FEED—AND WHAT'S THIS? EVEN THIS LITTLE PROFIT IS ALL TURNED BACK INTO THE PLANT-
THEN IT'S TRUE—WARBUCKS CLAIMED HE WASN'T MAKING A DIME OUT OF ALL THIS—I DIDN'T BELIEVE HIM—FEW OTHERS DID EITHER, I'M SURE-HIS PERSONAL CONTRIBUTION FOR PREPAREDNESS, HE SAID-

ALL RIGHT—ALL RIGHT—WHERE DO I SIGN?
BLOOD IS THICKER THAN WATER, IS IT? WELL, THE GUY WHO THOUGHT THAT UP DIDN'T KNOW THAT PIKER, BIM—I DON'T WANT HIS PRESENTS—
I WON'T EVEN GIVE HIM THE SATISFACTION OF OPENING IT—THE MISER!
GUS EDSON

DICK TRACY—Commissioned. By Chester Gould

THERE YOU ARE, TRACY. I MADE AN ENLARGEMENT OF THE SNAPSHOT.
GOOD! LET'S HAVE IT.
DARK ROOM
JONES, AS AN ARCHITECT, YOU'RE WELL ACQUAINTED WITH PERSPECTIVE AND SCALE DRAWING?
I THINK SO, TRACY.
WELL, SIR, FOR THE FIRST TIME I'M GOING TO ASK AN ARCHITECT TO HELP ME CATCH A CRIMINAL!
I GET YOU. YOU WANT TO KNOW EXACTLY WHERE THE CAMERA WAS SITTING OR HELD WHEN IT SNAPPED THIS PHOTO.
THAT'S RIGHT. CAN YOU DO IT?
BY EXTENDING PERSPECTIVE LINES. AND USING PROPORTION I CAN. IT WILL TAKE ABOUT TWO DAYS. I'LL SEE YOU FRIDAY.

STOCK LIST SHY ON DIRECTION IN MART TODAY

German Claims Keep Trading Quiet Pending Definite Disclosure on War.

NEW YORK—A few industrial shares developed a small degree of buying appeal today but the stock list as a whole was again decidedly shy on direction and motion.

Additional German claims of impressive successes in the Russian fighting stiffened the determination of many to remain as non-participants in the trading until the actual tide of the conflict was disclosed by reports from both sides of the fighting line rather than Berlin alone.

In Wall Street statistical quarters confidence remained high that mid-year corporation financial statements would show second quarter profits which would compare with the generally satisfactory levels established for the three months ended March 31. Such expectations largely were based on the fact most major industries continued to operate at or near peak capacity, with no thought of any tapering of operations because of seasonal influences which in normal times tend to curtail production around the half-year mark.

Among the indices cited to support the idea of undiminished speed in the industrial sector was the weekly report of Edison Electric Institute showing energy consumption at a record high level. It was a more than seasonal rise and carried the Associated Press index of electric power production to a new 1941 high.

HANCOCK HEADS SHELBY JAYCEES

Mansfielders Take Part In Setting Up Organization of New Junior Group.

SHELBY — W. S. Hancock, Shelby insurance and real estate dealer, was elected president of the Shelby Junior Chamber of Commerce last night at the organization meeting for the new group at the Shelby Salesbook company office.

Other officials chosen were Jack Kennedy and John Hoak, vice presidents; John Hursh, secretary; and Albert Barkdull, treasurer.

Formed by businessmen, between the ages of 21 and 35, the new group had approximately 25 young men apply for membership at the meeting last night.

Presiding at the meeting was John Plank as chairman of the nominating committee. Assisting were Arthur Cornell and Burkdull.

The aims and purpose of a junior chamber of commerce were explained by Harry Hollingsworth of Mansfield, a vice president of the state organization. Other Mansfield Junior Chamber of Commerce members attending were Lee Smaltz, chairman of extension committee; Robert Burger, secretary; Thomas Clark, city beautification chairman; Ed Balyeat, John Finefrock, jr., and Roscoe McGinty, board members.

Presentation of a charter to the Shelby group will take place during a banquet meeting to be held later this summer.

Mrs. Hart Takes Chair as Head of D. of A. at Shelby

SHELBY — Mrs. Harriet Hart was installed as councilor of Noble Council, Daughters of America lodge, last night during a public installation service at the lodge rooms here.

The installation ceremonies were in charge of Mrs. Della Reidel, deputy, assisted by Mrs. Eva Parks, captain of the degree team.

Other members taking office were Mrs. Lillian Cleland, vice councillor; Mrs. Grace Holtz, junior past councillor; Miss Kathryn Berk, associate junior past councillor; Mrs. Martha Fulmer, warden; Mrs. Gertrude Grimm, conductress; Mrs. Clara Dick, financial secretary; Mrs. Adytha Burrer, associate financial secretary; Mrs. Della Hill, recording secretary; Mrs. Esther Vanasdale, associate recording secretary; Miss Reva Eckstein, treasurer; Mrs. Naomi Swank, 18-month term trustee; Mrs. Pearl Bretbrunner, inside sentinel; Miss Iona Sterling, outside sentinel; Mrs. Lulu Lewis and Mrs. Vanasdale, representatives; Mrs. Jennie Clark, alternate; Mrs. Eva Parks, degree team captain; and Mrs. Marie Roth, pianist.

Refreshments were served at the close of the session by the committee in charge of the chairman, Mrs. Ethel Dodge.

Guests were present from Mansfield and this city.

JAPAN DECIDES TO BE NEUTRAL

Will Seek To Divert Interest of U. S. From Conflict In Europe.

However, the following dispatch by Robert Bellaire, chief of the United Press Tokyo Bureau, reporting a statement by Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka and an inspired article in the foregn office supported bi-monthly publication revue diplomatique seemed clearly to indicate that for the present at least Japan had decided to stay on the fence as regards the world situation. This did not mean that it might not continue vigorously to forward its East Asian and South Seas expansionist policies.

By ROBERT BELLAIRE

(UP Staff Correspondent)

TOKYO—A declaration of policy which meant a definite turning point in Japanese Foreign relations was approved today at an imperial conference which met under the Emperor Hirohito.

Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka indicated in a cautious statement that the government's course for the moment would be one of watchful waiting.

Matsuoka said the government could not meet the situation resulting from the Russo-German war on the basis of the "simple idea that a war had started between those two countries."

It must cautiously watch with firm determination not only the circumstances directly concerned with the Russo-German war but the world situation as a whole, he said, and the relations between the powers as well as the powers' movements.

"I feel that a super-emergency situation is developing before our eyes in East Asia and therefore our people must all the more take a cool and calm attitude, live up to the sovereign's wishes and not err in the slightest degree in treading the path before us," he said.

Matsuoka's statement lent importance to a special article today in the bi-monthly Revue Diplomatique, which is supported by the foreign office.

It said that Japan intends to respect both its alliance with Germany and Italy and its treaties with Russia in order that it may concentrate on its new order in East Asia and prevent the spread of the war to the Pacific.

It said that Japan must complete its Asiatic new order before it steps into any other world scene, "no matter how the war develops or the international situation develops."
